ANGRY FLAMES SWEEP CITY OF HOT SPRINGS

Thirty Blocks of Business District Reduced To Ashes.

Estimates of Loss Range From Six to Ten Million Dollars.

HIGH WIND AUGMENTS FIRE

Governor Will Order Out Militia to Patrol Burned District—Last Reports Indicate Flames Still Uncontrolled

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 5.—Fire, which started in a negro's cabin at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, is slowly dying out at the foot of West Mountain, the southern extremity of Hot Springs, at midnight, after reducing to a smouldering mass of wreckage an area more than a mile in length and from seven to ten blocks wide, in the eastern section of the city. An accurate statement of the monetary loss is not possible tonight, but it is roughly estimated at ten million dollars.

Governor Hays arrived in Hot Springs late tonight, and will probably order a military patrol of the burned district tomorrow morning. United States troops are expected from Little Rock, to add to the guard on the military reservation.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 5.—At 10 o'clock indications are that the fire, which is sweeping uncontrolled through the eastern portion of Hot Springs will burn itself out at the foot of West Mountain, after destroying the greater part of South Hot Springs' resident district. Various estimates of the probable monetary loss range from six to ten million dollars. At 10 o'clock the wind was dying down.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 5.—More than 30 square blocks on the eastern edge of the business district of Hot Springs had been swept clear at 9 o'clock tonight by a fire which, at that hour, threatened to eat its way to Central avenue, the main business thoroughfare. A high wind was blowing, and the Hot Springs and Little Rock fire departments the latter hurried to this city aboard special trains, had made but little headway in checking the flames.

Spread Rapidly

At 9 o'clock Sudney Dillon, commissioner of public utilities, estimated that at least $4,000,000 of property had been destroyed.

The fire originated in a negro dwelling on Church street near Malvern avenue, just east of the Army and Navy Hospital, shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, and spread quickly to the south and east. A number of small dwellings, dry as tinder, as a result of an extended drouth, were easy prey for the flames, which within a few minutes were beyond control of the local fire department. From this region the fire spread to a manufacturing section, then to a more pretentious residence and hotel district and at 9 o'clock the shifting wind threatened to carry the flames to the west, and the main business section.

A supreme effort was made to divert the fire toward the suburb of South Hot Springs when it was apparent that efforts to control it would be unavailing. At 9 o'clock this apparently was meeting with some success.

The Buildings Destroyed

Among the buildings destroyed were the city's light, water and power plants, the county court house, the park, Jefferson, Princess and Moody hotels, city high school, Iron Mountain Railroad station and shops, Ozark Sanitarium, People's Laundry, Crystal Theatre and Bijou Rink, besides a hundred or more smaller business buildings and many residences including some of the best in the city.

No fatilities have been reported.

Fifteen minutes after the fire started it was beyond the control of the Hot Springs fire fighting force, and aid was asked of Little Rock. Special trains brought abundant apparatus from that city, but water, dynamite and every available means of fighting fire has failed to check the flames six hours after the fire started. The firemen many times endeavored to destroy buildings yet untouched but the flames swept over them and broke out in half a dozen places.

Wind Augments Flames

Shifting wind currents changed the course of the fire three times.

At times early in the night the gale reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour, and three times the shifting wind currents changed the course of the fire. Twice it was headed for the main business district, the last time shortly before 9 o'clock, when by the free use of dynamite, the combined fire fighting force succeeded in diverting the course of the fire toward South Hot Springs.

Patrol Burned District

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 5.—Governor George W. Hays left for Hot Springs late tonight. Before leaving he anuounced that he would immediately order out militia to patrol the burned district and if necessary declare martial law.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 5.—The fourth in the series of international sonder yacht races was called off this afternoon because of lack of wind.

CAMINETTI GUILTY, SAYS JURY

Defendant in Notorious White Slave Case Convicted on One Count of the Indictment—Released on Bail

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Farley Drew Caminetti, son of the commissioner general of immigration, was found guilty late today of one count of the indictment charging him with the violation of the Mann white slave act.

The jury was out three hours, and took eight ballots. From the first the vote stood ten to two ror conviction, and finally the jury reached a compromise verdict of guilty, on one of the four counts charged.

Bail in the sum of $10,000 was furnished. Sentence will be pronounced September 10th, the day set for sentencing Maury I. Diggs, jointly indicted with Caminetti and convicted on four counts. Exceptions to the charge of Judge Van Fleet as a whole, and in part were taken by counsel, and a petition for an appeal will be filed, as was announced in the case of Diggs.

Caminetti took the verdict lightly, smiling a forced smile and nudging his brother jocularly. First, he lifted his daughter Naomi, who was playing at his feet, and placed her carefully in her mother's lap. Then he shook hands with his lawyers, and with Diggs, who had been sitting nearby.

His mother and wife showed no emotion. Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs, former State architect of California, were jointly indicted on six counts, and Diggs was found guilty on four of them, the jury being unable to agree on the other two. Because of the special circumstances surrounding Caminetti's individual part in the flight from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nev. with Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, the government elected in the second trial to press only four counts.

Diggs is liable to a maximum sentence of 20 years' imprisonment, and $20,000 fine and Caminetti to five years and $5,000 fine.

The finding of the jury was that Caminetti was guilty on the single count of transportation, and aiding in transporting Lola Norris to Reno for immoral purposes. It did not consider him responsible for Marsha Warrington's elopement, and it refused to believe that Miss Norris had been enticed into going.

There remain over the heads of both Diggs and Caminetti indictments charging conspiracy to violate the act and Diggs has still a third indictment hanging over him. With Charles B. Harris, of Sacramento, his former attorney, he is accused of subornation of perjury.

The perjury trial will be called be fore Judge Van Fleet Wednesday.

FUNERAL OF MR. RUSS

Was One of Clarkton's Best and Most Highly Esteemed Citizens

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, N. C., Sept. 5.—This community lost one of its most highly esteemed and most interesting citizens in the death of Mr. Joe S. Russ, whose remains were laid to rest in the cemetery here Wednesday. He was born near Bladen Springs, this county, and married Miss Janie Graham, a daughter of the late Dr. Neill Graham. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church having served as elder in churches at Mt. Horeb, N. C., McRae, Ga., and Monticello, Fla., having been a resident of these places.

He and his estimable family have been living here for the past four years and have made many friends who deeply sympathize with them in their sad loss. The surviving members of his family are Mrs. Jane Russ and four daughters, Misses Bessie, Annie Bell, Janie and Mary Russ, of this place; and one son, Mr. Neill Russ, of Wilmington. Three sisters are Mrs. C. A. Marsh, of Morsanton; Mrs. E. A. Hawes of Atkinson, and Mrs. Milt Robinson, of Elizabethtown. Three brothers are Messrs. W. H. Russ, Bladen Springs; J. M. Russ, Elizabethtown, and J. W. Russ, Kinston. Owing to the absence of his pastor, Rev. R. A. Lapsley, Jr., the funeral services were held by Rev. W. W. Morton, of Whiteville.

DUNCAN M'IVER DEAD

Well Known Sanford Lawyer Died Yesterday in Minnesota

(Special Star Telegram.)

Sanford, N. C., Sept. 5.—Telegrams received here this afternoon conveyed the sad news that Hon. Duncan Evander McIver, of this city, died at Rochester, Minn., today at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. McIver and her brother, Dr. Chas. L. Scott, were with him. Mr. McIver had been in declining health for some months and was taken to Rochester, Minn., about four weeks ago to undergo an operation. The operation was successful and hopes were entertained for his recovery up to Monday of this week when his strength seemed to fail and he grew rapidly worse. He is survived by his wife, five sons, two daughters and one sister, Mrs. Newton H. Smith, of Fayetteville. The body is now en route home and should arrive Sunday or Monday. The details of the funeral will be given as soon as definite arrangements can be made.

NEGRO BAPTIST CHURCH

Seventeenth Annual Foreign Mission Conference Adjourns

Washington, Sept. 5.—The 17th annual convention of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, attended by delegates from negro Baptist churches in North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, adjourned here tonight after Raleigh, N. C., had been selected as the next place of meeting. All of the officers were re-elected.

OCRACOKE PEOPLE ESCAPED THE GALE

Storm Swept Up the Sound and Did Not Strike Island Directly.

SOUND STREWN WITH DEBRIS

Much Damage Was Done to Property on North Carolina Banks, but No Loss of Life is Reported—Wind 95 Miles Hour—Cattle Lost.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 5.—At 7:40 tonight over a long distance wire from Beaufort came a message assuring the safety of a thousand people at Ocracoke and Portsmouth, isolated places on a long strip of banks bordering the sea coast.

Grave fears were had that the villages, located on the lowest places on the coast, and many miles from the main land, had been swept away by the storm tide from Wednesday's gale.

Every reasonable doubt that the settlements could stand the gale was had, because of the fact that the 1899 tide from a lesser storm, did great damage. With 10 feet of water in the streets of towns as far inland as Washington and Newbern, it was considered probable that only a bare beach remained on the sites of the little banks towns.

Ocracoke, historic and beautiful spot, is where the first white men landed on North American main land, and has been the scene of Pirate Teach's carousals. It is a day's trip by boat from Washington or Beaufort.

The 95-mile wind passed over Pamlico Sound and directly by Ocracoke and Portsmouth, and providentially failed to strike the beach, but continued on south and west, and spent its force on the main land at Atlantic, a few miles south of Portsmouth, where considerable damage was done, but no lives lost.

Pamlico Sound is reported strewn with wreckage of small craft, trees and dead animals from the main alnd, but no word had of lives lost in marine accidents.

People Escaped, but Damage Done.

Morehead City, N. C Sept. 5.—Boatmen arriving here this afternoon from Atlantic state that reports of the destruction of life and propert at Ocracoke and Portsmouth are greatly exaggerated. The storm and flood did great damage at both places, both being submerged, but it is practically certain that no lives were lost. Many houses were swept from their foundations and boats were swamped and torn from their moorings. A large number of cattle were drowned and the property damage will extend into the thousands.

Ocracoke being an exposed point, grave fears were felt for the safety of the inhabitants, but it seems they escaped the main fury of the gale, the wind sweeping up the Sound, instead of directly across the island, and thus saved the people from perishing. Efforts have been made all day to get into communication with the life saving station at Cape Hatteras, but have proved unavailing.

Yesterday afternoon the Newbern division of the Naval Reserves ert on the training ship Elfrida and crossed the Sound within a mile of Ocracoke. The ship encountered much wreckage, several capsized boats and many drowned cattle. They were unable to pick up the village of Ocracoke with glasses, on account of the heavy mist hanging over the water. The wireless outfit on the ship is out of commission and they were unable to get into communication with any nearby wireless station.

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 5.—According to the information brought to Morehead City this afternoon by a boatman from Atlantic, N. C., the reports regarding the destruction of life and

Two Killed When Auto Racer Crashes

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 5.—Harry Endicott, of Anderson, Ind., a brother of Farmer "Bill" Endicott, the noted automobile racer, and Mary Sarata, of Jackson, a 10-year-old spectator were killed and three persons injured here this afternoon, when Endicott's automobile crashed through a fence at the race track when one of the front tires blew up.

The injured are George Benedict, of Los Angeles, who was acting as Endicott's mechanician; Mrs. Mabel Walters and Frances Hall, 13 years old, both of Jackson. Benedict's condition is serious. Neither Mrs. Walters nor the Hall girl were seriously hurt.

Endicott was driving a 100-horsepower car, preparatory to an exhibition race against Benedict here tomorrow, when the accident occurred. Benedict was at his side. The machine turned a sharp curve as it swung into the home stretch, and with a report like a pistol shot the tire burst. Before the crowd, which lined both sides of the track could realize what had happened the machine skidded about 20 feet, swerved and plunged directly at a flimsy fence to the side of the course. Endicott was crushed to death against an iron railing. Benedict was hurled from the car and one of the rear wheels passed over his body. The Sarata girl was instantly killed. The car bounding from a road scraper crushed her. An inquest will be held here Tuesday.

BANDITS GET $16,000 IN CASH

Masked Robbers Hold-up Men With Money Intended to Meet Payroll and Make Good Their Escape

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 5.—Three men each armed with two revolvers, late today held-up a deputy sheriff and two employes of the J. G. White Construction Company at Parr Shoals, 20 miles from here, and took from them $16,000 in currency which had been intended to meet the payroll of the company, which is building a huge power dam there.

Tonight 700 employes of the company, together with the sheriffs and deputies of four counties with bloodhounds are hunting for the robbers. J. C. Joyner, the deputy sheriff, resisted the bandits and was shot, the bullet taking effect in the thigh. His wound is not serious.

The robbery occurred just after Paymaster Maher, with Fred Bultman, assistant cashier, and Deputy Joyner had taken the money from the express office at Parr Shoals. To reach the construction company's office, where the money was to be distributed, they had to go down the railway track through a rather deep cut. As the three were passing a box car which was standing on the railway track a trio of men, their faces blacked to disguise them, stepped out and covered the money-bearing party. Deputy Joyner reached for his gun and the robbers opened fire. Joyner fell, shot through the thigh, and the others realizing the futility of resistence with their assailants in so strong a position yielded. The robbers took the sack containing the money and made off into the woods.

The White Construction Company has offered a reward of $600 for the capture of the three bandits, but so far the officers are without a clue.

JUDGE UNDERGOES OPERATION

Harnett Court Adjourned on Account of Judge Daniels' Illness

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Dunn, N. C., Sept. 5.—Harnett Superior Court adjourned Wednesday afternoon on account of Judge Daniels having to go to the hospital for a slight operation. This was to have been a two weeks' session, but as soon as the criminal docket was cleared Judge Daniels asked the bar if it would be agreeable to adjourn as his physician had advised that while the operation was not a serious one it ought to be done as soon as possible. It was hoped to get Judge Webb to hold court next week, but he could not come on account of a pervious engagement.

Judge Daniels' charge to the grand Jury on last Monday was one of the finest ever delivered in Harnett county and will be long remembered by those who were fortunate enough to hear him.

At a meeting of the Harnett County Good Roads Association held at Lillington last Monday, a resolution was adopted and a committee was appointed to ask the county commissioners to appropriate $2,000 each to five proposed roads running to different parts of the county from Lillington joining with the good roads of the adjoining counties, on condition that the communities through which the proposed roads would run would raise $1 500 to supplement this amount. The commissioners will meet on Monday, September 15th, to hear this committee and citizens interested.

New cotton has begun to come in at a lively rate. Over 30 bales have been sold on the local market. The first new cotton brought twelve and one-half cents per pound last week.

A. & M. FILLING UP.

Large Numbers of Students Registering at State Institution.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—Yesterday and today was registration time at the A. & M., and a steady line of students has been pouring into the registrar's office for two days, and they are still coming.

So far, the number of new students is something over 300, and it is expected that by the time everyone has matriculated the number of new men will be around 400, and the total number about 750. Last year the total number of students during the year was 669, and this year's increase marks the largest number of students that have ever entered A. & M.

In order to take care of the overflow seven small wooden buildings have been constructed just south of the Y. M. C. A. building, as the present dormitory space is not sufficient to take care of them all. Each of these wooden structures contains six rooms, making it possible to accommodate 84 students in all. These are only temporary, as it is hoped that an appropriation will be made to build another handsome dormitory to take care of the rapid growth of the college.

OUTLINES

Harry K. Thaw will be produced before the full King's bench at Montreal, on September 15th. His counsel have obtained a double writ—habeas corpus and prohibition—and he has thus been able to block deportation again.

Farley Drew Caminetti was found guilty on one count of the indictment charging him with violation of the Mann white slave act. He was released on bail, and sentence will be pronounced on September 10th.

The personal envoy of the Huerta government, De Camocano, is now en route to Washington, and further developments in the Mexican situation are pending his arrival. Negotiations may be resumed between the United States and the republic on the south.

The towns of Ocracoke and Portsmouth on the North Carolina banks which, it was feared, had been submerged during the great storm Wednesday, are reported as safe, no loss of life occurring.

New York markets: Money on call firm 2 to 3 per cent; ruling rate 3; closing bid 2 to 2 1-2. Flour steady. Wheat easy. Corn steady. Rosin quiet. Turpentine quiet. Cotton quiet; middling uplands 13; middling gulf 13.25; sales 700 bales.

STAY OF PROCEDURE SECURED BY THAW

Will Be Produced Before King's Bench on September 15th.

LAWYERS GET DOUBLE WRIT

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw will be produced before the full King's bench, appeal side, at Montreal, on the morning of September 15th.

Two of his counsel, J. N. Greenshields and N. K. LaFlamme, today obtained a double writ—habeas corpus and prohibition—at Montreal, and whirled in a special train to Coaticook, where not long before the immigration authorities had ordered Thaw's deportation from the Dominion to Vermont, from which State he came into Canada.

There were cheers when the writ arrived, and more cheers whenever Thaw appeared at the window of the detention room. There was more cheering when the news got abroad that for Thaw the new move meant ten days' delay. Not only by the writ secured in Montreal, but by the action of his attorneys on appeal, did Thaw today block his deportation.

In addition, he had the pleasurable knowledge that his old enemy, William Travers Jerome, had been arrested, charged with gambling.

Coaticook Center of "Sensations."

If ever a little town produced "sensations," Coaticook did today. First came Jerome's arrest, and release on bail, on a charge that he had played poker yesterday on railroad property with some newspaper men. Then came word that Thaw's lawyers had obtained, in Montreal, the writ demanding his production in court there.

Meantime, the special board of inquiry ordered Thaw's deportation to Vermont under two clauses of the Immigration Act, namely: That he had entered Canada by stealth, and had, within five years, been an inmate of an institution for the insane. From both these decisions Thaw's lawyers appealed.

Public Sentiment Pro-Thaw.

Jerome's arrest was not prompted in any way by the Thaw lawyers. One and all, they expressed indignation at the move, and said they were ready to aid him. The arrest really signified that the state of public opinion here is decidedly pro-Thaw, and more decidedly anti-Jerome. Another factor is a split in the town council over Chief of Police John Boudreau, Thaw's original captor and subsequent petitioner for the writ of habeas corpus which forced Thaw out of jail at Sherbrooke into the hands of the immigration authorities.

Some of the aldermen contend that Boudreau was influenced and acted unwisely in the habeas corpus matter, and should resign. Among his opponents is A. A. Hopkins, chairman of the police committee of the council. Hopkins employs in his grist mill Milford Aldrich, the complainant against Jerome. Aldrich says he acted as a zealous citizen, and his contention was sustained by A. C. Hanson, Crown Prosecutor, who caused the warrant to be issued.

Jerome Shocked the Natives.

"We were hsocked," said Hanson, "to see Mr. Jerome playing cards for money in public, and it was our duty to arrest him. Little children saw him, and were talking about it. We have never had an arrest of this kind here. If Jerome tries to leave this jurisdiction, he will be arrested."

Mr. Jerome left town in his automobile this afternoon. It was explained that he "had gone for a ride." His case is set for hearing before a magistrate tomorrow morning.

Punishment on conviction of gambling on railroad property may range,

Selling Outburst In Cotton Market

New York, Sept. 5. The announcement that the Senate caucus had agreed to tax coton futures one-tenth of one cent per pound was the signal for an outburst of selling orders in the cotton market this afternoon such as rarely has been witnessed since the Sully days. It drove prices off fully $2 per bale, and completely demoralized the upward movement.

When the news reached outside points there was afresh wave of selling orders which came into the local market just at the close, when the most violent decline occurred. For ten minutes after the close the qotation clerks were busy putting up sales that had been made at or before 3 o'clock and overlooked in the excitement.

The trade generally has expressed the belief that if the Clark amendment should become a law without considerable modification, it would practically eliminate future trading on the cotton exchange of this country.

AMBASSADOR TO SPAIN

Joseph E. Willard Already Confirmed As Minister to the Post

Washington, Sept. 5.—Joseph E. Willard, of Virginia, already nominated and confirmed as minister to Spain, was nominated to be ambassador today to meet the action of Congress which recently raised the legation at Madrid to an embassy.

Ex-King Happy Groom.

Manuel of Portugal

The deposed King of Portugal who on Thursday was married to Princess Auguste Victoria, daughter of Prince William, of Hohenzollern, at Singmaringen, at Hohenzollern castle, which dates from the beginning of the Christian Era. Among the royal personages who attended the wedding were the Duke of Genoa, representing the King of Italy; the Infantas Don Carlos and Louise, representing King Alfonso, of Spain, and the Prince of Wales, representing the King of England. One of the striking features of the ceremony was that, while it was witnessed by an imposing array of royalty no actual rulers of real importance were numbered among the guests.

INJURE SOUTHERN INDUSTRY

Tax on Bananas Would Operate Against Southern Cotton Trade With Central America—Growers Lodge Protest.

(Sepcial Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—It developed here today that the Central American countries have protested to the State Department against the levying of a tax on bananas as provided in the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. They claim that if this provision of the bill is not amended that it will seriously effect the cotton goods trade with these countries.

It is claimed that last year these people purchased over $12,000,000 worth of cotton goods of the class which is manufactured in the South. This trade has been built up at considerable cost by the Soutnern cotton manufacturers during the past four years. The effect of the tax on the banana growers would have the same affect as a tariff by England or raw cotton would have on the Southern farmers and would result in retaliation against cotton goods according to representatives of the Central American countries.

Inquiry at the State Department today developed the fact that the Southeri Central American countries have discussed the mater with officials of the department. Further than to admit that a protest had been made by these countries, the State Department would talk of the matter for publication. But enough has been learned that it is the belief in Central America that the imposition of a tariff on bananas, which are admitted free to all ports of the world, would materialy injure our commercial relations with these people.

Representative Page has recommended Claud Campbell for Postmaster at McConnell, Moore county.

The following fourth-class postmasters were appointed today; James F. Garot at Aquone, Macon county; Grover Crisp at Wantahala, Swain county; Lula L. Cain at Wehutty, Cherokee county; John McCallum, Raynham, Roberson county.

De Leon Carlton, one time mayor of Marion, N. C., has been made an assistant attorney in the Postoffice Department, at a salary of $2,750.

FIREMEN PARADE.

Column Two Miles Long Swings Trough Streets of Gotham.

New Yor, Sept. 5.—A column of firemen two miles long swung into upper Broadway this afternoon, and in lines of eight marched leisurely to One hundreth street and Riverside Drive. Powerful motor appratus, its sierens stilled, loafed lazily in the marching ranks. The finest horses of the local department, sleeked to the pink of condition, also participated.

The annual firemens' parade was a feature of the closing hours of the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers here today.

At the forenoon session New Orleans was selected as the convention city for 1914. The following officers were elected:

President, Thomas Haney, Jacksonville, Fla.; First Vice President, Pugo Delphs, Lansing, Mich.; Secretary, James McCall, Roanoke, Va.; Treasurer George Knowflock, Mansfield, Ohio.

NEXT STEP DEPENDS ON MEXICAN ENVOY

Huerta's Personal Representative Now En Route to Washington.

MAY RESUME NEGOTIATIONS

Officials Undecided Whether They Will Receive Mexican Representative Unless Certain Concessions Are Made.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Developments in the Mexican situation probably will await the arrival in Washington of Manuel De Camacona Y Incian, personal envoy of the Huerta government, to continue with the Washington administration the negotiations begun by John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico.

Administration officials had not decided tonight whether they would receive Senor De Camacona, unless he brought positive assurances of Huerta's elimination from the Presidential election in Mexico, and was ready to act upon the other points in the American proposals for the establishment of peace.

Some of the Washington officials feel that the United States has made its position sufficiently clear through the parleys conducted by Mr. Lind, and the address of President Wilson to Congress. There is, however, a disposition to receive Senor De Camacona, in view of the courtesy shown Mr. Lind.

Senor De Camacona's chief connection with the Mexican government in the past has been in financial matters, and his mission is said to contemplate not only the furtherance of the negotiations looking toward peace, but the floating of a loan that would be encouraged by the American government. He has managed Mexico's financial affairs in Europe heretofore, and during his stay here as ambassador to the United States, in 1911, became widely known and popular with the diplomatic corps.

Senor De Camacona's departure from Vera Cruz yesterday took Washington officials somewhat by surprise, for while the suggestion had been made to them by the Huerta government that he might be sent to Washington to conduct further negotiations, the Huerta administration ordered him to proceed to the United States without awaiting the answer of the American government. This phase of the situation created a feeling of optimism here, for it was interpreted as meaning that the Mexican government understood that the United States considered the elimination of Huerta from the Presidential race as having been assured in Senor Gamboa's second note, and was ready to take up the suggestions of help in financial matters offered by Mr. Lind.

It is known that the administration here has under consideration the drafting of a rejoinder to Gamboa's second note. It would accept Senor Gamboa's contention that Huerta is ineligible for the Presidency as an implied pledge that he would not enter the lists in October. Putting this view point on record, it is believed here would permit the United States to go forward with its suggestions for the arrangements of an armistice, and the holding of a free and constitutional election.

BANKERS VIEWS ON CURRENCY

Senate Committee Assured that Monetary Problems Can be Solved

Washington, Sept. 5.—Prominent bankers assured the Senate Banking and Currency committee today that they thought any problem of credit contraction resulting from enactment of the pending administration currency bill could be "worked out" so that the country's business would not be seriously affected.

A possible contraction of $1,800,000,000 in the present structure of bank credits was given by James B. Forgan president of the First National Bank of Chicago, as his estimate of the reduction that would have to be made in present loans to meet changed conditions.

"I do not want to scare any one," he added. "This doesn't mean that the thing cannot be worked out. This is simply the amount of contraction that would seem to have taken place to continue the banks on their present condition of credits."

Mr. Forgan, George M. Reynolds, of the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago, and former Representative E. J. Hill, of Connecticut, took part in the presentation of the bankers' views throughout the day. Mr. Hill emphasized what he called a "fatal defect," the fact that the bill did not make the banks responsible for the issuance of notes, and relieve the government of liability. Mr. Reynolds criticised the features requiring compulsory membership in the regional reserve banks; compulsory rediscount between the regional banks, and the failure to give the banks representation on the Federal reserve board. Mr. Forgan gave figures to demonstrate that under present banking conditions $8 of credit is given throughout the country on each $1, of actual money reserve. He estimated that if one-third of the present reserves were transferred to the regional reserve banks, regional banks loans, and credits would have to be reduced by $1 800,000,000 to maintain the existing credit ratio of $8 to $1.

Mr. Hill said no other nation had attempted to make itself liable for the payment of notes issued by the banks, and insisted the government would find it impossible to secure an adequate reserve for the purpose while in its attempt to supervise the issuance of all notes it in effect would become final judge as the individual creditor bank borrower in the coun-

DEMAREE TWIRLED BRILLIANT VICTORY FOR THE GIANTS

Return to Mid-Season Form Made Victory Over Dodgers Easy.

PHILS WON AND TIED BRAVES

Pittsburg Pirates Took Both Games From St. Louis Cardinals— Reds Took Final Game From Chicago Cubs.

A return to mid-season batting and base running from by the Giants, resulted in an easy victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the third game of the series, Demaree pitching a brilliant game. The score was five to nothing and Umpire Brennan called it in the eight inning on account of darkness.

The Boston Braves, who for the past week or ten days, nave been putting up the classiest exhibition of the National pastime in the National league, dropped yesterday's game to the Phillies by a one to nothing score, and in the second contest, called at the end of the tenth inning on account of darkness, neither side was able to put a tally across, the score remaining nothing to nothing. Tom Seaton twirled the initial game for the Phils, and Grover Cleveland Alexnader the second, while Quinn and Rudolph did the honors for the Braves.

The Pittsburg Pirates took two games from the St. Louis Cardinals, the first eight to three and the final eleven to three.

The Cincinnati Reds pulled down the curtain at Chicago with a victory over the Cubs by a nine to four ascore.

Demaree Did It.

New York, Sept. 5. Brilliant pitching by Demaree coupled with a return by the locals to their mid-season batting and base running from, led to an easy victory for New York in the third game of the series with Brooklyn today. The score was 5 to 0 Umpire Brennan called the game on account of darkness after the Brooklyns had had their eighth ining.

WOMAN ELECTROCUTED

Highly Charged Wire in Bathroom Proved Fatal at Athens, Ga.

Athens, Ga., Sept. 5.—Mrs. W. A. Cunningham, wife of Head Coach Cunningham, of the University of Georgia, was electrocuted here tonight when she grasped a highly-charged light fixture. Mr. Cunningham also received a sever shock.

Mrs. Cunningham entered the bathroom of her residence, and her husband heard her fall. He investigated and in attempting to turn on the light received a shock which stunned him. He quickly revived and summoned medical aid for his wife, who was lying unconscious on the floor. Efforts to resuscitate her were unavailing. How the light fixture became charged with so powerful a current has not been determined.

Coombs Out of the World Series

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Whatever hopes anybody might have had that John Coombs, the Athletics' invalid pitcher, would get into shape for the 1913 world's series, were given a knockout blow yesterday by Dr. Brown, who is attending Coombs in his most recent illness.

The physician stated that while Coombs would probably recover inside of a week or so, he would be so greatly weakened that it would require two or three weeks, or maybe, more than a month, for him to get back his full strength. Since this convalescent period will last until near the end of September, Dr. Brown said that there was little or no possibility of Coombs being physically able to pitch a game in the big series.

This news is no great surprise to the majority of the Athlites' followers, for Coombs has been unwell almost the entire season.

Manager Mack will have Bender Plank, Brown and Shawkey to depend on to defeat the National League pennant winners, with Bush and Houck eligible for the position of dark horse. While Coombs, who has never lost a world's series game, would be helpful to Mack if perfectly well, it is almost certain that Mack would not use him in the crucial series after he had been out of the game for most of the playing season.

BASE BALL GAME TODAY.

First of Series of Three Games to Decide Championship.

The lovers of the National game in Wilmington and especially those who have been followers of the games in the City League during the Summer will be treated to a game of baseball at Parsley diamond at Hilton today which will be worth going miles to see. This will be between the champions for the season, Company B, of the Boys' Brigade, and their nearest rivals this season, the Giants captained by Clarence Davis.

It will be remembered that about two weeks ago these two teams played a 13 inning game which was one of the finest exhibitions of baseball seen in the city in years. The game was played to a tie, the score being 2 to 2. There were only about four errors made by both teams and neither pitcher, Register for Company B, and Holt for the Giants were touched up for more than three hits and these were kept so well scattered that they resulted in few scores and time after time with the bases full and none down the side would be retired without a run,when it looked as though many runs would certinly be scored.

This game has created much discussion on the part of the friends of both teams as to the relative ability of the teams and it is to settle this question that three games have been arranged, the first of which will be played today. Company B. will be minus their catcher, C. Burnett, and first baseman, R. Burnett, and their absence will be greatly felt, but these positions will be filled by H. Bell, catcher of the Athletics, and H. Huhn, of the Rattlers.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock sharp. The line up will be. Company B., Mell, C; Register, p; Huhn, 1b; Register, 2d; Palmgren, s. s; Shephard, 3b; Andrews, lf; Taylor, cf; Branch and Litgen rf.

McAleer Pleased With Carrigan

Boston, Sept. 5.—James R. McAleer, president of the World's champions, is wearing a smile despite the lowly stand of his Red Sox this season. He is satisfied that William F. Carrigan, new manager of the Sox will carry the team to another pennant before another twelve months rolls round, and signed a contract Wednesday with Carrigan to manage them for the season of 1914.

The teams of the contract were not announced, but it is understood that Carrigan received asubstantial increase in salary. He was appointed manager a few months ago following the release of Jack Stahl, who piloted the team to a world's championship last year, and the sudden showing of old time form by the team since his managerial term began has satisfied McAleer that he is well qualified to manage the team.

ATLANTA WON FROM MOBILE

Only One Game Was Played, a Tenninning Affair—Crackers Now Tied With Gulls for First Place

Atlanta, Sept. 5.—Mobile and Atlanta tonight are tied for first place in the race for the Southern Association pennant. Atlanta today won the first game of the double-header 6 to 5, after ten innings. The second game was called at the end of the third inning that the Mobile team might catch a train for New Orleans. Neither club scored in the second contest.

Tonight the fight for the flag presents a condition most unusual if not unique in baseball history. Tomorrow Atlanta will close its season with a game against Chattanooga. Mobile, however, will play at home with New Orleans tomorrow and Sunday. Tonight each club had won 80 games and lost 56. Should Atlanta defeat Chattanooga tomorrow Mobile must take both contests from New Orleans to finish in front. If Atlanta loses tomorrow its chance of ending the season in first place will be gone, unless New Orleans, the tail-end team of the league takes both battles from Mobile.

A monster crowd, the largest by more than 1,000, that ever attended a game on the local grounds, filled the stands and formed a huge circle around the playing field. It was officially stated tonight that 12 812 paid admissions were registered at the box office. The second game was begun in a light rain. There was constant wrangling during the second contest.

While the tension was high during the ten innings of the opening battle it was not a game which could be classed as brilliant. Mobile played raggedly, piling up eight errors. Of these Schmidt was credited with three, all of them costly. Atlanta was credited with only one error but the players plainly showed the effects of the strain to which they were subjected. The crowd equipped with innumerable noise-making devices, and reinforced by a brass band, kept up an indescribable din.

Atlanta started with a rush, scoring two runs in the first and a like number in the second. Cavet, pitching for Mobile, made bad weather of it at the outset giving up five hits in the first two innings. He steadied, however, and held Atlanta runless for three innings. In the sixth, the locals scored once more.

Mobile seemed unable to do anything with the offerings of Price until the fifth, when two runs were scored. In the seventh, however, the Atlanta pitcher weakened and Mobile, quick to seize the chance hammered in three runs on as many hits, tieing the score.

Dent relieved Price at the opening of the eighth inning, pitching brilliant ball and holding the visitors runless for the remainder of the game. In the tenth after Welch was out, Smith, Atlanta's second baseman, tripled into the crowd in left field an d scored when Robertson dropped a long fly hit by Manush, batting for Holland. When the winning run was scored the crowds went wild, and headed by the band, invaded the playing field and paraded the length of the stands and bleachers.

It was announced, by agreement, the second game would be called at 4:40 P. M. Hogg went into pitch for Mobile, and Thompson for Atlanta. Just after the contest opened a light rain began to fall, but there was not sufficient moisture to interfere with play. During the three innings Atlanta secured two hits from Hogg, while Thompson held the visitors without a safety. Promptly at the hour agreed upon the game was stopped.

MACKMEN BOW TO CHAMPS THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

NAPS DEFEATED THE TIGERS

..The Senators Won Two Hard-fought Games With Johnson and Boehling—White Sox Shut-out St. Louis Browns

Playing on the ragged edge throughout the entire game, the whole of Connie Mack's aggregation of stars, including the veteran Eddie Plank, went down to defeat for the third consecutive time before the newly invigorated Boston world champions at Philadelphia yesterday afternoon. Plank allowing a total of twelve hits to the visitors, while three errors behind him aided the Sox in their victory. Ray Collins pitched good baseball for the leaders, allowing nine scattered hits.

The Cleveland Naps, by a timely rally in the ninth inning of yesterday's game won from the Detroit Tigers in the second game of the series, and showed themselves up within six and a half games of the Athletics. Ty Cobb mauled out a homer and a single, while Joe Jackson went the route hitless.

The combined work of Washington's two premier twirlers, Johnson and Boehling, were called into play to shove a double victory across for the Senators in yesterday's double bill with the New York Yankees. Johnson went into relieve Boehling when he weakened in the ninth inning, and also twirled the second contest throughout.

Ed Cicotte, the knuckle-ball kind of the Chicago White Sox, shut St. Louis out yesterday, while Chicago bunched two hits in the second inning for the only score of the game.

Red Sox Third Straight

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Boston's victory over Philadelphia here today by 6 to 3 was the third straight for the former in the series:

Senators Took Both

Washington, Sept. 5.—Washington took two of the hardest fought games of the season on the local grounds from New York today by scores of 3 to 2 and 1 to 0. It took both of Washington's premier pitchers—Boehling and Johnson—to bring both ends of the double-header to the locals Johnson saving the day for his team mate when he went in in the ninth inning of the first game, after Boehling had weakened. The bases were full and two runs had crossed the plate with none out. Johnson retired the side without further scoring. Boehling was presented with a gold watch and chain by some of his local admirers, when he came to bat the first time.

The second contest was a battle between Johnson and Ford from the start, with the odds lightly in favor of Johnson.

RICH FIND OF MONEY.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 5.—Following a swarm of bees to a mulberry tree, and investigating by proxy, A. A. Cain, a farmer living near the mouth of Rockefish river, collected a bushel of honey from the outside of a hollow limb, where it had been deposited by the swarm. A small boy, armed by with a butcher knife and covered with bee-fighting armor, was sent into the tree after the bees had been driven away by the burning of sulphur. Even a greater quantity of honey-comb was found on the inside of the limb than on the outside.

Many Major Clubs Get New Managers

There are bound to be many changes of managers in the ranks of the major leagues next season. According to information from St. Louis, which is said to be authoritative, George Stovall will lose his job as director of the affairs of the Browns, even before the present season closes. It is believed that Branch Rickey, formerly a catcher, but since retiring from the game acting as scout and legal adviser of the Browns, will take Stovall's place. It is reported that Rickey will be in charge when the team starts on its Eastern trip, September 8th.

Word also comes from Philadelphia that Charlie Dooin, the fiery manager of the Phillies, will lose his job when his present contract expires at the end of the season. Two men are mentioned as the probable successors—Frank O'Day, who made an unsuccessful attempt to pilot the Reds last season and Otto Knabe, the team's second baseman.

New managers are also slated for next season for the Red Sox, Dodgers, Cardinals and Reds.

LUNCHED ON STRAWBERRIES

Whiteville Artists Ate Old-time Rivals Alive—Eight to One

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Sept. 5.—Manager Lumsden's white elephants returned from Chadbourn late yesterday, where they had administered a crushing defeat to their old-time rivals, the final count being 8 to 1 in the right way.

Aside from the fact that the game proved a swatfest for the visitors it was a case of two much Lewis for the home team, the best they could get was five well-scattered hits. The aforesaid twirler caused 15 of the berrylanders to bite the dust, while the local team scored wholly on clean drives from the very choice offerings of Pridgen, who in the sixth, was relieved by the spit ball king, DeVane, who fared little better. The game was devoid of the usual loose fielding attributed to amateur teams, being marked by tight work on each side.

Featuring, was the star playing of Ward, for the home team, who very fittingly graced the initial sack without a misplay during the game; and Manager Lumsden's perfect record with the stick.

Although on different occasions Lewis found himself in deep water, his consistent work is noticeable in that the home team's only tally came as a result of the only wild throw of the game, this being charged to Manager Lumsden.

Batteries: Chadbourn, Pridgen, DeVane and Crawford; Whiteville Lewis and Lumsden. Umpire, Leonhart.

Navin Denies Sale of Cobb

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—"About once each year the newspapers of the country dispose of Ty Cobb, but in spite of their best efforts the center fielder is going to stay right here in Detroit."

That's what President Frank Nevin, of the Detroit Tigers, said when asked about the New York story that Cobb was to become a member of the New York Highlanders next season, bought for $40,000.

"Cobb has not been sold, nor have we the slightest intention of disposing of him," continued Mr. Nevin. "As for a stockholder tipping it off in New York, I wish to say that all the stockholders of the club are now in Detroit except one, who owns a small block of the stock, and he will not sell Cobb on the strength of his holdings."

"SPUNK" GREELISH INJURED

Wilmington Ball Player Injured in a Game at Tampa, Fla.

The many friends of Harry ("Spunk") Greelish a Wilmington boy, who has been playing a star game for the Tampa, Fla., club this season, will be interested in the following from the Tampa, Fla., Tribune:

"Harry Greelish, the Phillies' crack third sacker, who sprained his ankle yesterday, is surely not lacking in friends just now. Manager Harry Lee, of the Knights, has offered his team to play a benefit game for the injured boy any day. He will play any team and turn his share of the gate receipts over to Greelish. Ben Lastrapes the well known 'movie' man, of West Tampa, will also give a percentage of his receipts today to Harry. Young Greelish is a clean, sportsmanlike ball player and has made a host of friends in his short association with the local bunch."

INTEREST IN HOLLAND CASE

White Man Who Killed Negro for Indecent Exposure Will Likely be Tried in Wake Court Next Week

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—A one-week criminal term of Superior Court for Wake county opens Monday, Judge Charles M. Cook presiding. There are now 97 cases docketed for trial and there will be about 125 by the time the court convenes. The case of most public interest is that against J. J. Holland, section master for the Seaboard Air Line, who shot and killed a negro some days ago at Millbrook for persistent indecent exposure of his person in view of the Holland home. Holland is out under $2,000 bond. Columbus Gulley and Maggie Hodges, negroes, are to be tried for murder in that they killed another negro at Wake Forest.

The city authorities have brought a friendly suit for the purpose of getting from the Supreme Court a ruling as to the right of the city to deed the site of the old market and municipal building and the sidewalks on either side of the building in connection with the sale of the property to the Tucker estate here for $90,575. It is expected that about two weeks will be required to procure the ruling of the Supreme Court and then if the finding of the court sustains the right of the city to deed the two sidewalks, the deed will be passed to Trustee Cary K. Durfey, of the Tucker estate, at once. In the meantime the work of clearing the site for the new $25,000 market is being pushed by the city.

Much Building in Raleigh

It is estimated that there has been $2,500,000 worth of building accomplished in Raleigh during the past 12 months, a phenomenal showing for the Capital City of North Carolina. There is the new, quarter-million-dollar State administration building; the new Commercial National Bank building; the Citizen's National Bank building; the Raleigh Banking & Trust Co. building; the Young Men's Christian Association building, and numerous others of lesser cost that round up the big sum of $2,500,000.

Charters were issued today for the Ayden Furniture Co. of Ayden, Pitt county, capital $10,000 authorized and $5,000 subscribed by R. C. Coward and others, and the Tabor Drug Co., of Tabor, Columbus county, capital $5,000 subscribed by E. L. Muse and others.

Sheriff H. Lane, of Craven county, was here today to deliver to the penitentiary Til Kenyon, colored, who is to serve 20 years for murder; Louis Green, colored, to serve 10 years for highway robbery and Emiline Murphy, colored, to serve two years for manslaughter.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young issued a statement today showing that there were 3,025 fires in this State during 1912 and 1,006 during the first six months of 1913. Of the 1912 fires, 600 were of unknown origin; 342 from defective flues; 104 from lightning, and 294 from sparks. Of the fires for the first six months of 1913, 165 were caused by lightning, only 74 from defective flues, and 125 from sparks.

L. S. Warlick, of Catawba county, has been appointed oil inspector for the Ninth district of North Carolina to succeed N. S. Clark, resigned.

Roy Taylor, a white boy of Durham county, pardoned by Governor Kitchin from the remainder of an 18-months sentence for larceny has been recommitted by Governor Craig on an affidavit by the chief of police of Durham that the boy is so bad that he should not be longer out under executive clemency.

Raleigh Fans Pleased

The Raleigh baseball fans, headed by President Joe Ellington, of the Baseball Association, are well pleased with the record of Earl Mack as manager in spite of the fact that the Raleigh team failed to land the pennant. As an evidence of this Mack has been signed for the next season and instructed to push along the signing of the most desirable men on the team just disbanded and get any others he may find that are desirable before the opening of the 1914 season. It is ascertained that the receipts at the four towns in which league ball was played Labor Day aggregated $1,818—Raleigh, $795; Winston-Salem, $334; Durham, $303; Charlotte, $236, and Greensboro, $148.

The Corporation Commission is preparing to enter upon the investigation of the receiver's sale and partition of the old Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley, or Atlantic & Yadkin Railroad, through which the Sanford-Wilmington division fell into the hands of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Sanford-Mount Airy division into the hands of the Southern, thereby giving rise to the charge that its partition was in order to prevent the development of a formidable competitor in railroad service stretching from the principal seaport town of the State into the mountains with Mount Airy as the mountain terminal. The investigation is to begin here September 8th and the commission has summoned a number of witnesses as a sort of beginning for the investigation. Then as the circumstances of the sale and partition and the purpose are indicated the scope of the investigation will broaden materially if there is substantial evidence that the charges of combination to throttle competition in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It is evidence that the control of the road by the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act and was brought about by collusion between the Southern and Coast Line, that is being sought by those who brought about the passage of the act by the last Legislature. The findings of the commission are to be reported to the attorney general and he is to take action against them in the Federal Court in the event ground for such action is found.

A. L. Blow, the new clerk of the United States Court for the Eastern district of North Carolina, had a narrow escape from serious injury while the storm was at its height here. He had left his desk in the temporary Federal building here being used while the government building is being enlarged and remodeled, when the wind and downpour of rain crushed in the large window glass in the upper sash of the window right back of his desk. The glass was shattered on the back of his desk chair and desk and had he been in his seat his head would have received the full force of the heavy glass, besides being terribly cut, most probably.

AFTERMATH OF STORM

Several Kinston People Had Thrilling Escapes—Death of Capt. Whitty

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 5.—Aftermaths of Wednesday morning's big storm which swept Eastern Carolina include the thrilling experiences of Kinston people at Newbern. Frank Prevonga and wife, occupying a single-story cottage on the yard of a big lumber plant at James City, near Newbern, awoke at 5 A. M. to find water creeping into their bedroom at an alarming rate. When they were taken out of the house in a boat the water was almost on the level of the bed.

Dempsey Wood, a prominent Kinstonian, and his guest, W. H. Sutton, also of this city, leaped from the deck of the yacht Avis to a dock at Newbern just before the craft went to the bottom. The Avis, handsome 65-foot gasoline cruiser, was discovered to be leaking by a member of the crew, who awakened all hands. Two feet of water covered the dock on which they landed.

A number of narrow escapes were reported here where the wind reached a velocity of 65 miles. The damage in Kinston is now estimated at about $10,000, the greatest loss being sustained by the telephone companies and the city electric system. However, the damage to cotton in the county will be between $100,000 and $200,000, from 10 to 20 per cent. Corn and other crops suffered in lesser degree.

News has reached this city of the death in a hospital at Nappa, Cal., of Capt. Joseph Whitty, a former resident of this section and a native of Jones county. Captain Whitty was 83 years of age, and was prominently connected in Jones county, where he was a leading citizen before he removed to the Pacific Coast State. He had been in California since a few years after the War Between the States, in which he served as a captain in the Confederate army. The remains of the aged Carolinian were interred at Nappa.

J. Paul Frizzelle a lawyer, is again the mayor of Snow Hill, after having vacated the office a few weeks ago. Mr. Frizzelle had served as the head of the administration of the Greene county town until the last municipal election, when he relinquished the honor after having held it four years. He was re-elected by the aldermen when press of private business required James T. Exum, the incumbent, to give up the office.

CAUTION TO FARMERS

State Agronomist Sends Warning as to Buying Oats for Seed

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—State Agronomist J. L. Burgess has issued the following letter of warning to the farmers of the State relative to buying seed:

"Beware of purchasing unguaranteed seed oats or 'feed oats that are good enough for seed.' Sometimes such seed will germinate but we frequently find a lot in which not one seed in a pound will come up and, not infrequently, every seed is dead.

"Get a written guarantee that the oats are all right for seed and are sold for seeding purposes, otherwise pay only the price of feed oats and give them to your mule.

"Send us a sample of your seed oats and seed wheat right away and let us germinate it for you for nothing and tell you before you sow it just how much to sow for a good stand. There is too little profit in the growing of small grain in this State to take any risk of getting a poor stand. When you send your sample of wheat or oats address, 'The North Carolina Seed Laboratories, Raleigh, N. C.'"

MINISTER HALE ARRIVES

Given Enthusiastic Welcome on Arrival at Republic of Costa Rica

Fayetteville, N. C. Sept. 4.—According to advices received here the arrival at San Jose of Major E. J. Hale, the new minister to Costa Rica, was marked by a demonstration which plainly showed the friendly feeling of the people of that republic toward the United States.

The new envoy was met at Port Limon by the Costa Rican Secretary of State, the President's aide-de-camp, and the secretary of the American legation, and was taken to San Jose on the President's special train. Crowds were awaiting the arrival of the special at the capital and hearty cheers were given by the populace for the American minister. At Port Limon, Major and Mrs. Hale were entertained at luncheon by the Governor of Limon.

"New York wants Harry Thaw," but it cannot be said that she needs him.

Working together for the good of a town or a community is bound to make it go.

September Morn doesn't have a thing on an August morn when it comes to a matter of atmosphere.

The wise man follows the line of least resistance because he hates the hard lines that fall to hose who are foolish.

"Thrice armed is he who hath his quarrel just," and can get out of it with more friends than he ever had before.

Norway has just appointed its first woman judge. No doubt her honor's decisions will be based upon the intuition as well as judicial temperament.

It is said most Mexicans can understand English. Well, if they can they should do it at once and regulate themselves according to the correct English of President Wilson.

Some men are put in jail for not having visible means of support while others are put in the penitentiary on account of having means of support that are entirely too visible to the argus-eyed laws of the land.

It is now said Colonel Roosevelt wants the nomination for President at the hands of both the Progressive and Republican parties in 1916. We infer that his main reason for that is that "in union there is strength" and hope.

North Carolina needs every honest, industrious man. If a man is one of that kind he should realize his importance because of the fact that a State of great resources has a warm welcome for him and a million just like him.

Mr. Carnegie believes "an earthly paradise is in sight. "He should come at once to Wilmington and get a glimpse of the earthly paradise that can be made of this region. This is it and it only needs money to develop it. That's all.

The Canadian alienists do not believe Harry Thaw is insane. While that is complimentary to Harry, in a way, it means that if he had been tried in Canada, he would have been convicted and executed for taking the life of Stanford White.

Many a man who believes in independence wastes all his money and keeps right on depending on some other man for a job. When a man saves his money he becomes independent. The savings bank has enabled many a man to hoe his own row after he reached middle life.

When a North Carolina newspaper says its county is "the best in the State," it indicates a firm belief in its resources and possibilities. We know counties that can be made "the best in the State" but it depends altogether on the people to get busy and develop things.

The Chicago Tribune remarks "Hereupon Senator Penrose jumps into the arena as the champion of Uncle Sam in the Mexican muss. Stand back and give him air." With him, air is recognized as raw material. When he converts it into the finished product it becomes a peculiar type of hot air.

Good roads days are all right so far as they go, but it is likely that an excess of enthusiasm on a specified day will cause a general deficiency of good roads interest later on. Every day should be a good roads day everywhere. Keeping everlastingly at it, here as elsewhere is what brings success.

The report that forty-five convicts in Joliet penitentiary bound themselves together by oath to deal summarily with any one of their number who attempted to escape from the open air road-working gang, sounds real fishy; but if it is true, there are forty-five men in the prison whose sense of honor is high enough to turn them entirely loose.

TOO MANY FORUMS.

The Summer season brings chronicles of the proceedings of numerous State and National associations, "congresses," unions and organizations which have their annual meetings all over the country. They have elaborate programmes, formal addresses, informal discussions, and all sorts of an interesting as well as a good time. The question seems to have been raised as to the usefulness and practical benefit of the these organizations. For instance, the House of Governors recently held their annual conclave and it means the New York Times to say:

"Instead of a House of Governors who are intent upon junketing or making political capital for themselves, why not substitute a House of Delegates, made up yearly of experts specially charged with the functions of considering a group of interstate measures, covering some special field?"

We don't know that it is fair to say that the real purpose of the Governors is to do a little junketing and to make capital for themselves. The Governors have discussed many interesting and timely questions among themselves. They have no doubt been officially and personally benefited by getting in touch with each other, and while they gather in the House at their own expense, the country will put up with them unless they from some sort of conspracy and engage in deep laid plots that nobody can stand for. The idea of the Times about the House of Governors evokes this entertaining comment from the Manufacturers' Record:

"This question by the New York Times might well be answered by a second question, Why a House of Delegates or a House of any kind? Only experts in self-exploitation would have time to attend the yearly functions suggested. The country is fully equipped already with legitimate organizations capable of meeting in their own way and to the satifaction of the people of the country every problem that might be brought before a House of Governors, a House of Delegates or any House of the kind. Because of the multiplication in recent years of such devices as the House of Governors and the divers and sundry congresses, conventions, parliaments, etc., men of serious mind and serious purpose hesitate to participate actively in any public gathering, and the country is thereby the loser. Instead of encouraging, even indirectly, the craze for additional organizations, a craze out of which selfadvertised advertising "experts" make their main capital, the sober mind of the country should address itself to the task of suppressing about 70 per cent. of the organizations already engaging in meeting and talking. Then there would be the chance for something to be done."

Why not let them all meet and talk, and probably the result may be a consolidation of all these organizations into sections that will come to a conclusion, adopt a plan and go to work to carry it out. Most of them have to learn to adopt a plan, organize a propaganda, and give publicity to practical plans actually adopted. Our observation is that at most of the gatherings some splendid suggestions are made but no practical step is made to carry them out. The fact is there is a lack of publicity for the really valuable and practical matters mooted, while the general details as reported to the papers are so extensive and indefinite as to furnish only a running story, sometimes for the waste basket.

We don't want to get down on the conventions, congresses, parliaments, houses, etc. and we don't want to cry down free speech, but it does look like some definite, business-like plan would be evolved to get tagible results instead of talk and volumnous volumes of the proceedings. We thought the Governors at one time were going to settle the matter of attracting homeseekers to the South, but they talked and didn't start anything. However, all these organizations and their doings indicate that we are in the academic state. They may sooner or later get down to some sort of business that can be capitalized.

When any kind of movement is capitalized and administrative of figures are elected to carry out a purpose, we can sit up and take notice.

TO COMPETE WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

The Wells-Fargo Express Company has announced its decision to compete for business with the parcel post service of the United States Postoffice Department. It is the largest of the several American express companies and it has instructed its 25,000 employes along nearly 90,000 miles of railroad in the West that they must go after business and handle it for as little or even less money that the Government charges for carrying parcels.

That means that the express company will adopt economies and so readjust its system as to compete with Uncle Sam on strictly business lines. There is no reason why it cannot do it, for as a general thing public conducted business comes higher than privately conducted business. A corporation with good business men at its head ought to be able to compete with the Government unless the latter does business below cost. In that event, the cost comes out of the people and public ownership would then become a public burden with the people paying taxes to support an army of officeholders.

According to a San Francisco dispatch to the New York Journal of Commerce the Wells-Fargo Company is inaugurating another new departure. Realizing that the future of the express business in the United States depends in no small degree on development of additional lines of business the company has enlarged its order and commission department by creating the order, commission and food department. Primariley, it is usged, the addition of food produces to the scope of the department is intended not only to build up new business but to aid in the problem of distribution and thus assist in reducing the cost of living.

It is announced that the companqis convinced that, while food products are high priced, the cost is not so much due to inadequate production as to lack of thorough knowledge among producers as to where to find the best markets, and to lack of knowledge among consumers as to where to buy to the best advantage. On that foundation, many objects will be sought by the department. Among these are the following:

To assist growers and producers in finding suitable markets for commodities produced.

To encourage the planting of such food products for which there is a market.

To study the problem of finding the best containers in which to make shipments.

To provide distributers and consumers with information as to where any particular product may be sold or bought.

To gather the names of reliable growers and shippers; also names of reliable buyers, so that business between the two classes may be facilitated.

The great Western express company seems to be getting down to business. Its plan simply is to make business for itslef by encouraging production and promoting industry by efficient transportation and cooperative methods. Since prohibitive rates often stifle enterprise and prohibit business, if the company will be as fair in its rates as it propoces to be liberal in its helpful policy, the producers will look upon it as a side partner. We have always believed that if the carriers would give all people, all communities and all sections a square deal they would not have to combine against the public and arouse public antagonism in return.

There is another thing we believe, and that it that blil liberal policies many of the carriers have prevented the growth of communities that would otherwise develop and furnish them with patronage. If the railroads can encourage and promote the trucking, berry and melon industry and thereby make business for themselves in the way of transportation, they can do the same by promoting the industry and commerce that build cities and furnish freights and passengers as well.

We cannot see why well regulated transportation companies and communities should not have identical interests, each working to the advantage of both. The carriers and the public may have their differences, but all should avert the antagonisms that do injury to all.

CHEESE-MAKING IN THE SOUTH

Commercial and industrial circles in the North are interested in the plans of J. L. Kraft & Bros. of Chicago, to establish cheese factories in advantageous portions of the South. Sections where the dairy and cattle industry is being developed will be chosen. Attention just now is attracted to the proposition of the Chicago concern to establish a string of cheese factories in the Missouri Ozarks, near Springfield, Mo., if proper co-operation can be secured among farmers and dairymen. They propose to invest $100,000 divided among twenty plants, each capitalized at $5,000.

The Kraft & Bros. firm is one of the largest cheese-making concerns in the world, and they have a series of plants in various portions of the United States. They are both manufacturers and distributors of cheese, and recently they decided to locate their next series of plants in Missouri. Steps already have been taken to organize the farmers for the purpose of securing a plant. It is pretty certain that one factory will be established at Springfield and another at Ozark. We get it that these plants will be co-operative cheese factories pretty much after the order of the co-operative creamery now doing a flourishing business in Catawba county, North Carolina. The J. L. Kraft concern is said to be capitalized for many million dollars and it is one of the most extensive buyers of dairy products. In all the rich dairy sections of the United States, notably in New York, Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan, the company has established scores of factories which employ thousands of men and produce a large portion of the cheese on the market.

New opportunities are opening up to the South and creameries and cheese factories are among only a few of the possibilities of the country. The factories referred to will be established in Missouri, but the day will not be far distant when North Carolina must quit depending on any other country for its butter and cheese.

Those who are trying to get the goat of Judge Speer in Georgia, charge him with misapplication of public funds, nepotism, violation of the bankruptcy laws, using his office in favor of relatives, disobedience of Supreme Court mandates, judicial tyranny, neglect of duty, attempted bribery, filling up on dope and several other things that a judge should not do. Such insinuatons and allegations have made the judge mad and it strikes the average man that he has every reason to be terribly provoked.

Ex-President William Howard Taft was elected President of the American Bar Association last Wednesday at the close of the annual meeting at Montreal. No American President was ever so universally esteemed for his high qualities, great ability and genial personality. Without regard to politics, the American people sincerely admire Mr. Taft and are pleased when distinguished honor is bestowed upon him.

Commerce ought to be a mutual exchange of products between countries. Wilmington handles from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 of Chilean products but ships nothing to Chile in return. Steamships go directly from Wilmington to Chile but their return cargoes are picked up at other ports. Can't we give Wilmington and the State a chance to do business with the coast of South America?

CURRENT COMMENT.

A $75,000 postoffice building is about the right cut for Lumberton. That will fit in well with the extension of paving and other improvements that will be made in the near future.—Lumberton Robesonian.

It is suggested by The Raleigh News and Observer that besides letters to the respective legislators from every business man in North Carolina citing particular instances of rate discrimination a "monster mass meeting" of North Carolina business men be held in Raleigh on the opening day of the extra session, September 24th. That would look like business, sure enough. We approve of the idea. —Charlotte Observer.

The example of freight rate discrimination given in this paper on yesterday and today with relation to Goldsboro show such a state of affairs that all North Carolina should act as one in the fight to secure an end of the injustice with which North Carolina is being treated by the railroads. If there was ever a time when the people of the State should speak out now is the time. The members of the General Assembly of North Carolina should be impressed with the absolute necessity for taking action to secure an end of such practice.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The farmers of this county, the best in the State and most resourceful, as rich as any and affording finer and more diversified opportunities than the most of them, ought to learn a lesson in co-operation from what the Catawba county planters have with their creamery. Co-operation in this line is no more potent than it would be along many others and the outstanding need of the farmers just now is this spirit of get-together and stay-together. The Catawba people have stuck to their proposition through thick and thin and even after the novelty of the enterprise wore away and their creamery is not only one of the most unique institutions in the State, but one of the most profitable as well. WATER RATES AND RAILWAYS

Ports As Deliverers from Rate Woes Outside Real Path, Says Editor (Charlotte Observer.)

Declaring Wilmington as a competitor of Norfolk and Charleston "a mere pretender, an impossibility," The Beaufort News goes on to say: "This is a notorious fact, much as we in this State dislike to admit it. And the State is paying the price. If North Carolina should be forced to put on a boat line from Northern ports in order to force the railroads to give it an equitable freight rate, Lookout Harbor might soon come to be what it should have been these many years, North Carolina's real deep water port." We doubt whether The News really disliked to admit this alleged fact regarding Wilmington. Upon the completion of work contemplated by the Federal government Wilmington will possess water of practically the same depth as Norfolk or Charleston. There is water of this depth now on the bar of the Cape Fear river, at Southport; and many of the world's greatest ports rely upon down stream points situated relative to them as Southport is to Wilmington for the larger craft. For that matter, Southport (already provided with rail connection) could be made an important port in itself. Cape Lookout Harbor, on its part, will completely outclass Norfolk, Wilmington, Southport and Charleston, alike, so far as the actual water facilities to receive big vessels are concerned; it will be able to accommodate ships of a class permanently excluded from these other ports—the biggest ships yet built. Of course terminals would have to be provided and railway communication improved. But if we had Wilmington, Southport and Cape Lookout Harbor all fully improved it would in itself mean very little to the cause of freight rate reform. The problem is not to get the goods to the water gates at something like a reasonable rate; one great part of it is to get them away from there over the opposition of the railroads. None of our North Carolina ports can ever amount to much in itself or be of much service to the State while purposely corked up as all of them are now.

If simple port development were sufficient for such purposes, New York city's commercial organizations would not be continually tussling to secure their rights; and, as a matter of fact, most of the rates to New York are not quite so good as to several far lesser ports. If from four to eight feet in the Cape Fear river to Fayetteville would reduce North Carolina freight rates, the mighty Hudson river and the Erie Canal to the Great Lakes would exercise ten times the influence they do, whereas, valuable though they are, they have little to do with general freight rates. If the railroads considered ports so many regional rate centers on a bona fide geographical basis, North Carolina should get about as much benefit from Norfolk itself as Virginia does; for Norfolk, the chief natural gateway to the State from the North and well utilized as such, connected with the State's great sound and river system by two canals, and just across a purely artificial border, would never be counted in the balance against the principal sources of its livelihood.

The truth is that virtually except between actual water points rates are what they have been made by the railroads. Port and river development deserve helping hands, but these will never in themselves bring relief; and even if the State went heavily into the steamship business we should expect no great results. One or another port tells us that if we will only get it enough Federal appropriations or give it a State steamship line or both, it will bring us deliverance from our woes. By many men who had more or less meritorious railroad schemes we have also been told that if we would only grant them enough State convicts and other public aid they would deliver us through their roads. We heartily favor more railroads and better ports, but as deliverers from our present evils they are outside the real path.

When It Comes to Using

ICE

The Independent Ice Company

without doubt offers in all respects the best Ice to be had in this market.

The water used is drawn from deep wells and is clear, pure and cold; it is distilled and double filtered, then reboiled making it absolutely pure.

It is then frozen at a very low temperature making Ice of the highest sanitary quality.

The best authorities on analytical chemistry prove our claim that no purer Ice than ours can be made.

Our ice cuts clear and sure thus avoiding the waste in using so noticeable in other makes of Ice; therefore, careful and discriminating consumers will make no mistake in calling for our Ice on the grounds of purity, economy and general satisfaction.

Our delivery service is of the highest efficiency, combining certainty with celerity—early and late, and all the time on the job.

Our increasing sales prove in the most conclusive manner that we are serving the public with the real stuff.

GOOD service in the matter of clothes is the thing we're trying to give to the men of this community.

Good service involves knowing what you ought to have in matters of quality; it means seeing that you get the best possible value for your money; and that means, of course, pricing the goods so we can give that sort of service.

It means style, too; and good fit. It means having clothes that will fit such figures as our illustration shows—portly men, stout men, short men; hard-to-fit men.

Service means, also, telling you about it; we're doing that.

FIRST WEEK OF INSTITUTE

Supt. Griffin, Director in Charge, Enthusiastic in Praise of Interest Shown by New Hanover Teachers

Prof. I. C. Griffin, superintendent of the Marion N. C., graded school, who is conducting the institute for New Hanover teachers, stated yesterday that he was especially struck with the great interest which the teachers have shown during the first week of the institute. There are 50 white teachers enrolled, and practically the same number of colored teachers in the colored institute. This includes all the rural teachers of the county, and also a few of the city teachers, who did not attend a Summer school or institute elsewhere during the Summer.

The institute for white teachers is being held at the Hemenway school building, located on Fifth street, between Chesnut and Grace. Prof. Griffin has as his assistant Miss Susie Fulghum, of Goldsboro, who has charge of the instruction in primary methods of teaching. She is one of the best equipped and most successful teachers in the State, and her work this week has been of great benefit to the primary teachers.

Prof. Griffin has had many years of experience as superintendent of some of the leading graded schools of the State, and has also for a number of years been conducting teachers' institutes throughout the State. The New Hanover Institute is the fourth one that he has held this Summer. He knows all the ins and outs of teaching, and has the happy faculty of imparting what he knows in a most interesting way.

The institute for the colored teachers is being held at the Peabody colored school building, on Sixth street, between Red Cross and Campbell, and is being conducted by Rev. J. A. Bonner, principal of the Peabody school for colored children. Prof. Griffin has also devoted considerable time this week in instructing the colored teachers in the latest methods of teaching.

Prof. Washington Catlett, county superintendent of schools, has general supervision of both institutes, and has helped much in making them such a splendid success. He is planning to have a rally next Friday for all the school committeemen of the county, but the details have not yet been worked out. He had hoped to have Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, present to make an address, but unfortunately he had other engagements, and could not come.

The work of the institutes, both white and colored, is along practical lines, and very little time is devoted to theoretical and abstract discussions. The institute is designed to help the teachers in their daily work in the school room, and for that reason the conductor and his assistant seek to find out the problems that the different teachers in attendance have before them, discuss it freely, and then work out a satisfactory solution. No "high brow" instruction is indulged in at this institute as it is believed that time is too valuable to be wasted in this manner.

Prof. Griffin states that in all his experience he has never before held an institute where there was not a single male teacher in attndance. There are 50 women teachers enrolled but not a single man. When a newspaper man dropped in yesterday he created a mild sensation and for a time threatened to impede the splendid work of the institute. Prof. Griffin is also very highly pleased with the good attendance which, he says, is practically perfect. There have been not over a half dozen absences of those enrolled during entire week.

Every teacher present appears to be vitally interested in the work that is being done. Especially striking is the great enthusiasm displayed and the interest shown by the teachers in seeking a solution to the many problems that confront them.

AGED WOMAN DEAD

Mother of Mrs. J. S. Crowley Died Wednesday at Her Home

Many friends will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. J. S. Crowley's mother, Mrs. Isabella Wright, which occurred at the family home at Roslindale, Mass., Wednesday at noon. Rev. and Mrs. Crowley were at her bedside when she died, having left Wilmington a few days ago to spend their vacation in Massachusetts. Mrs. Wright had only been sick a few days before her death. She was 81 years old. She with her aged husband visited in Wilmington a few years ago, and were delighted with Wilmington and the hospitality of the people.

Mrs. Wright was a good Christian woman and one of the mothers in Israel. She is survived by her aged husband and seven children whose names are Mr. Gilbert Wright, Schenectady, N. Y.; Mr. Lincoln Wright, Hopedale, Mass.; Mr. C. J. Wright, Warren, Ohio; Mrs. J. S. Crowley Wilmington; Mrs. M. F. Wright, Butler, Pa., and Misses Flora B. and Lilla B. Wright, Rosendale, Mass.

GAMBLING IS CHARGED

Large Number of Arrests Made Yesterday for "Crap Shooting"

George Rowan, Henry Kerman, Furman Pigford, J. Zellars, John Thorpe and Dupey Guthrie, all white, and Lambeth Foard, Theodore Jacobs, Robert Lane, Jim Brown and John Lowe, all colored, were arrested yesterday on warrants sworn out before Justice Harriss by Mr. H. Mack Godwin, charging them with gambling. It is alleged in the warrants that these persons have engaged in playing a game of chance, sometimes known as "shooting craps" in a rear room of B. J. Cottle's drug store, corner Eighth and Castle streets. Clarence Hewlett, white, and Robert Miles, colored, were arrested on a similar charge Thursday night. They together with those arrested yesterday, gave bond for their appearance before Justice Harriss today.

ARCANIANS OFFER HELP

State Council Would Aid Councils at Washington and Newbern

As grand secretary of the Grand Council of Royal Arcanum of North Carolina and also authorized to speak for the two Wilmington councils, Mr. Henry E. Bonitz yesterday morning sent telegrams to the councils at Washington and Newbern, which towns suffered severely in Wednesday's storm, offering any assistance in the power of the State Council or local councils that may be needed by the Arcanians of the two afflicted cities. Both towns suffered greatly from the storm, especially Washington, where the property damage is estimated at $2,000,000. If there are any Arcanians among the number needing help they will receive it from the State Council or from the Wilmington councils.

SURVIVED ALL HER CHILDREN

Mrs. Susan Whitman, Aged 92 Years, Passed Away Yesterday—Mother of 14 Children—Life of Noble Sacrifice.

Mrs. Susan Whitman passed away yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the James Walker Memorial Hospital in the 92d year of her age. She was the mother of 14 children but survived them all, and when she died had no near relatives living in the city. She lived a life of noble sacrifice, and was especially beloved by the older inhabitants of Wilmington for her heroic work in Wilmington 50 years ago when there was a yellow fever epidemic here.

Her husband preceded her to the grave some 30 years ago, and for a number of years she had been dependent upon the loving charity of devoted friends. Before her marriage to Mr. William Whitman she was Miss Susan Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Wells, of Duplin county. They came to Wilmington several years prior to the Civil War, and for many years Mr. Whitman was a wood inspector on the wharf for the city of Wilmington. She was among the first to contract yellow fever during the scourge of 1862. Upon her recovery she immediately set about furnishing relief to the hundreds of other sufferers.

For many years she had made her home with Mrs. Annie Willoughby at No. 1024 South Second street. Up until a few days before her death her mental faculties remained unimpaired. She was taken ill about 10 days ago, and removed to the James Walker Memorial Hospital. Her condition did not appear to be serious, and it was expected that she would soon recover. Death was due to illness attendant upon her extreme age.

She was a consecrated Christian woman, and was perhaps the oldest member of the First Baptist church. She had been for many years a devoted and faithful member of this church. When she was no longer able to take care of herself, and having no relatives to look after her welfare kind friends furnished the means for her support. All of her children together with her husband died many years before her death.

The funeral services will be held this morning at 9 o'colck and will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster. The interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

TO PROTECT TRAINMEN

Mr. G. C. Winn, of Wilmington, and Other Trainmen in Conference

Of interest to the many trainmen who make Wilmington headquarters, is the following from yesterday's News and Observer:

While the extra session of the General Assembly is being held in Raleigh this month efforts will be made to have introduced a bill having as its purpose provisions for the better protection of railroad employes and the traveling public in North Carolina. If introduced a great effort will be made to have it passed at this session.

For the purpose of taking preparatory steps towards drafting a suitable bill the State legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has been in conference in this city for several days. Those constituting this board are: W. A. Ramsey, Spencer; G. C. Winn, Wilmington; J. F. Shelton, M. O. Roberts, E. A. Belcher and H. R. Stoker, the latter of Raleigh.

The ultimate aim of the proposed law is to make it compulsory for every railroad doing business and operating trains, passenger or freight, in this State to provide flagmen for every train and for such flagmen to stand a rigid examination before being allowed to hold positions.

"In numbers of cases," said one of the members of the board, "eighty per cent of the trains do not have flagmen and in many cases they have neither baggage masters or flagmen. In these cases the work of the flagmen are done by porters and others and very often by negroes, who generally cannot read or write much less read the rules governing flagmen's work. In these cases railroad employes and traveling public do not have the protection due them. In hundreds of cases the protection of the public relies upon negroes who do not even carry standard watches, and when wrecks are thoroughly investigated it is often the case that a negro who is sent back to flag an approaching train forgets his instructions or takes a nap while waiting for the train to approach. In each instance there is nothing to prevent a wreck, death and great destruction of property."

Various members of the board will remain in Raleigh until the convening of the General Assembly, and if the General Assembly takes up the matter, it is the expectation that one of the hardest fights ever waged on the floors of that body will be made in behalf of the proposed measure.

Goes After Prisoner.

Deputy Sheriff Kelly left last night for Lillington, Harnett county, where he goes to bring back to this city Wesley Hamilton, a young white man arrested there Thursday on information from Wilmington that he is wanted here to answer a charge of store breaking, it being alleged that he and four or five other young men entered several stores at Delgado and vicinity some weeks ago and stole a quantity of goods. The officer hopes to return this morning with his prisoner.

PREACHERS ARE ARRESTED

"Unknown Tongue" Ministers Charged With Being Common Nuisances—Have Been Preaching at Delgado.

For several weeks a number of "unknown tongue" evangelists have been conducting a tent meeting at Delgado, and finally the speaking of the strange language got to be so loud and continued so long into the night that many of the people of that community were unable to get any sleep until well into the morning hours. Yesterday warrants were issued before Justice Harriss, and last night five of the preachers were placed under arrest on a charge of beinf common nuisances by Constable Davis, Deputy Sheriff Reynolds and Special officer Godwin.

The names of the preachers arrested are Reuben Jarrell, Ralph Mills, Jarvis Mills, C. W. Harvell and Macon Cavenaugh, all white. They were brought to Justice Harriss' office last night about 11 o'clock and recognized for their appearance this afternoon at 2 o'clock before Justice Harriss to answer to the charge. They were recognized with the understanding that they should not go back to Delgado until after the trial this afternoon.

It is stated that the meetings which have been in progress for several weeks begin every night about 7:30 o'clock, and continue until late at night. Soon after the services the speaking of the unknown tongue begins, and the shouting gets louder and louder. Those who live in the vicinity say that the noise made by the worshippers is so annoying that they are unable to sleep until the services close, and as this is usually at a late hour frequently, they get very little sleep during the night.

When the officers arrived last night the meeting was on in full blast, and they had some little difficulty in locating the men charged with being the leaders in the alleged distracting actions that have proved to be so annoying to the inhabitants of the village. One of the preachers even after being told that he was under arrest for being a violator of the law persisted in shouting at the top of his voice, "Halleleujah" and other joyful phrases of like nature.

LOOSE COIN IN BOXES.

City and Rural Letter Carriers Not Required to Collect Them.

City and rural letter carriers are not required to collect loose corns in mail boxes put there to pay postage on letters dropped in without stamp. The city carriers have recently been prohibited by order of Pastmaster Green from collecting these coins. The letters, whether stamped or not, are taken out of the box and if there is a return address the person mailing the letter is notified that it is held at the postoffice for postage.

A few days ago a carrier found five letters with four cents in money. He collected the letters and coins and carried them to the postoffice, where report was made to Postmaster Green. The person who had mailed the three letters without placing stamps on them remembered later in the day what he had done and after properly identifying the letters at the postoffice he was allowed to place the stamps on them. Then the postmaster knew that the four cents found in the box with the five letters were intended to pay for stamps to be placed on the other two letters. Carriers have often found letters in the boxes without stamps, often there are more letters in the box than money to pay for stamps for them, indicating that some of the letters had carelessly been placed in the box. Then it was indeed a puzzle as to which letters the money was placed in the box for and cometimes it was a very difficult task to find out. After these experiences the postmaster gave instructions to the city carriers not to take up any more loose coin in the boxes.

Now in the county, on the rural routes, it is different. The carriers are not prohibited from taking loose corn from the boxes, but they are not required to do so. The carriers on the rural routes carry stamps with them which they sell to the patrons on their routes. The city carriers do not sell stamps. Recently the following order was sent out by the Department at Washington with reference to the collection of loose coins by the rural carriers:

"Office of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, Washington, August 26, 1913:

"The attention of postmasters at rural delivery offices and of rural carriers is again directed to the fact that rural carriers are not required to collect loose coins from rural mail boxes.

"Patrons should enclose coins in an envelope, wrap them securely in paper, or deposit them in a coin-holding receptacle so they can be easily and quickly taken from boxes, and carriers will be required to lift such coins and, when accompanied by mail for dispatch, attach the requisite stamps.

"Carriers who lift coins not so enclosed, wrapped, or deposited will do so purely as a matter of accommodation and not by any direction of requirement of the department.

"Postmasters should give this notice as much publicity as possible without causing any expense to the department.

"JAS. A. BLAKSLEE".

"Fourth Assistant Postmaster General."

SEAFARER FAR INLAND.

Kittiwake Seagull Blown by Storm, Found Exhausted in Charlotte.

Not infrequently sea birds of one kind or another are forced far inland during a sea-born gale like that which raged over a part of the State Wednesday and uplanders find them a source of much interest. Yesterday's Charlotte Observer tells of a "kittiwake" gull that was found exhausted in a backyard in that city Thursday:

"Now as seagulls usually stay around the sea and there being no sea near Charlotte, despite the fact that a navy yard used to be here, those who discovered the air-passenger had to do some thinking to arrive at a conclusion as to why the big bird was so far inland. Then remembering that a storm from seaword had drifted over North Carolina Wednesday; it was believed that the seagull had been forced far ashore by the wind and had fallen exhausted in the yard.

The bird is 16 inches in length and measures about three feet from tip to tip. The wings are slate colored as is also head, while the color scheme is harmonized beautifully by a white breast, and black feet and bill. The "kittiwake" is considerably larger than the ordinary seagull though frequently found with the smaller bird. The strength of his bill was amply demonstrated upon the hands of several boys who yesterday compared him with the picture of the one in Audubon.

CITY WILL BORROW $100,000

Amount to be Used in Completing the Sewerage System—Was Arranged for Yesterday by Mayor

Acting under authority of a resolution adopted by the City Council in special session yesterday morning, Mayor Moore yesterday afternoon arranged with a Baltimore firm to borrow $10,000 with which to complete the sewerage system. The details of the loan will be perfected within the next few days and the money will be available by the time it is needed. The resolution of Council authorized the borrowing of $100,000, one-fourth of which will be needed in laying lateral pipe lines.

The city will pay 6 per cent interest, brokerage and attorney fees of $100 and the loan is to run for five years. Including the brokerage fees the interest will amount to practically 6 1-2 per cent. While this seems rather high it is regarded as cheap for so long a period and with money as high as it is at this time. City officials consider themselves fortunate in ebing able to secure the money at this time on the terms offered them. It is highly important that the extension of the sewerage system be completed within the next few months instead of waiting for years and there was only one way to do it and that was to borrow the money. The people of the city have received with delight the announcement that there is a probability of completing the sewerage system within the next few months and they will be pleased at the information that Council has actually arranged to secure the money for this purpose.

The meeting yesterday morning was presided over by Mayor Moore and all members were in attendance except Councilman Wood, who is at Southport, but he is in favor of the loan for he so expressed himself at the meeting of the Council Wednesday morning. Mayor Moore stated that a few days ago a loan of $75,000 was offered the city, but as action was not taken immediately the offer had been withdrawn. However, he had hopes that the money could be secured from another source. In view of the fact that an amount will be necessary for the laying of laterals, which was not included in the engineer's estimate of $75,000 for the completion of the system, it was decided to authorize the borrowing of $100,000 instead of $75,000 as had been suggested a few days ago. The resolution adopted by Council follows:

"Resolved, by the Council of the City of Wilmington, N. C., that the Mayor and Councilman on Accounts and Finance are hereby authorized to contract a loan in behalf of the city for the sum of $100,000 to be used in completing the sewerage system of the city. Said loan to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and the city to run for a period of five years."

City Engineer Pillett, who prepared the plans for the extension of the sewerage system and under whose direction the work now going on is being done, was present and explained the plans to the Council. He stated that already 20 miles of new sewers have been laid. He thought that $75,000 is all that would be necessary to complete the extensions. However, this does not include lateral connections and this will probably amount to something like $25,000 additional. The engineer stated that if the funds are provided and the work continues uninterrupted Wilmington will likely have a completed sewerage system within six months.

Application of Mr. J. M. Solky for a permit to erect a sign over the sidewalk in front of his store was granted. There being no further business, Council then adjourned, after having been in session only a few minutes.

Another Meeting Today

For the purpose of ratifying the loan as secured by Mayor Moore a special meeting of the Council is called for 10 o'clock this morning. This means that the money will be available in a few days and the sewerage work will continue without interruption. Early in the afternoon Mayor Moore stated that he had arranged to borrow $75,000 and last night he stated that the other $25,000 had been contracted for, making the full $100,000 authorized by the Council.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Deed for Property of Land and Lumber Company Filed

There was filed for record at the Register of Deeds office yesterday a deed from E. K. Bryan and W. P. Stacy, Esqs., commissioners, to John W. Frost, for $21,100, all the property of the Scott's Hill Land & Lumber Company, including real estate located in New Hanover and Pender counties, the mill and other property except money belonging to the company. The property was offered at auction some weeks ago, Mr. Frost being the highest bidder. The sale to him has been confirmed by the court an order to this effect being signed by Judge Rountree, of Wilmington.

Other deeds filed for record yesterday were: Marsden T. Sellers to E. M. Flowers, for $10 and other considerations, lots 98 and 99 of Fernside. Marsden Bellamy and wife to Wm. Struthers, Jr., and Marshall Shrier, for $650, an undivided one-fourth share in lot on west side of Seventh street, 60 feet south of Howard, 60 by 150 feet in size. John W. Holmes to Wm. Struthers, Jr., and Marshall Shrier, for $10 and other considerations, an undivided three-fourths interest in the same property.

HEARING AT ENFIELD

To Investigate Matter of Proposed Bridge Across Fishing Creek

According to an announcement sent out yesterday by the United States engineer office for this district, Major H. W. Stickle in charge, a public hearing will be held at Enfield, Halifax county, on Monday, September 15th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in regard to a bridge which the County Commissioners of Edgecombe and Halifax counties propose to erect across Fishing Creek at the site of Sessoms Bridge.

At this hearing the views of interested parties as to the requirements, design and location of the proposed bridge, so far as the interests of navigation are concerned, will be received. At the same time and place the question of having draws placed in Cofields bridge, Spiers bridge and Daniels bridge, all located in that immediate section across Fishing Creek, will also be given consideration.

Arrested for Non-Support

B. F. Lane, a white man, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Special Officer L. W. Tyndall on a warrant sworn out by Lane's wife before Justice Harriss, charging him with nonsupport of his family. He was required to give bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance before Justice Harriss today. At the same time the warrant for her husband was issued Lane's wife also swore out a warrant for Minnie Robeson, white, charging her with vagrancy. This paper was served by Special Officer Tyndall also, and the Robeson woman was required to furnish bond in the sum of $25 for her appearance today before Justice Harriss.

COUNTED ALL THE POLES.

Income to the City This Year Will Amount to Over $600.

Mr. G. T. Williamson, superintendent of fire alarm, has just completed a count of all the poles in the city owned by the trolley, telegraph and telephone comanies and on which a tax of 20 cents apiece has been levied by the City Council to make up for the loss in revenue from license tax that was formerly imposed. Mr. Williamson found 3,149 poles, which means that the city will receive in revenue from this source a total of $629.80 for the year. The Tidewater Power Company owns the greatest number of poles, 2,117, which will net the city a tax of $432.40. The Southern Bell Telephone Company has 1,002 poles and the tax will amount to $200.40 The Western Union Telegraph Company will have to pay only $5 and the Postal Telegraph Company will get by with $1, the former owning 25 poles and the latter five in the city, most of the wires of the telegraph companies being underground in the city.

—The case against Mr. J. B. Farmer, charged with dealing in automobiles without paying the State license tax, which was to have been heard yesterday before Justice Harriss, was continued on account of the absence of Mr. Farmer's attorney, K. C. Sidbury, Esq.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Arthur McNeil, Colored, Given Jail Sentence of 30 Days.

The Recorder had another short session yesterday. Arthur McNeill, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was given a jail sentence of 30 days privilege to the County Commissioners to hire out. Judgment was suspended in the case against Mr. F. W. Davis, charged with with running his automobile at night without having a rear light. A nol pros with leave was taken in the case of Emory Cushman, charged with violating the license tax ordinance of the city. John Jackson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct was fined $10 and the costs. The cases against James Chadwick, Clement Elmore, Frank Piner and John Rich, four boys, charged with bathing in the Cape Fear river within the city limits, were discharged on account of their youth with an admonition from the court that the offense not be repeated again.

SPLENDID FISHING.

Several Drums Caught at Wirghtsville —Many Bass and Trout.

All the old timers in the angling art state that the best fishing in this section is always to be had after first stormy blow in September. The stormy season opened up early this Fall and according to their forecast there should be excellent fishing for the rest of the Fall months. That the fishermen have not missed their forecast this year is shown by the fact that on Wednesday night several large drums as well many trout and blue fish were caught at the Seashore Hotel pier. Mr. Harry Solomon landed a 28 pound bass which was the largest one caught. The indications are that there will be an unusually large number of anglers on the beach from now on.

POSTPONED CIVIL CASES.

Bar of the County Decided Not to Arrange Calendar for Term.

The bar of the county at a meeting in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court yesterday morning, decided not to arrange any civil cases for trial at the September mixed term of court, which begins next Monday with Judge Geo. Rountree presiding. All of the term will accordingly be given over to the criminal side of the docket. There are 75 cases on the criminal side of the docket and while none is of any sepcial interest or importance most of the two weeks will likely be consumed in their trial.

To Publish Ginners' Reports

The directors of the census has made a change in the method of publishing statistics of the quantity of cotton ginned in each county, and instead of furnishing such information to local papers only on request, he is instructed the special agents to give this information to the papers as it is verified in the Census Bureau. The first report will be made on the 8th of this month, and thereafter regularly local papers in all cotton-growing counties will have ready access to the ginners' reports. The director thinks full information as it develops will be of deep interest and will make for correctness in reports as well as increase the confidence of the public in the accuracy of same.

..Theatrical..

Today is going to be a big and merry one for Wilmington theatre-goers and it will also be of importance and much interest because it will witness the opening of the theatrical season for Wilmington. Today "Mutt and Jeff in Panama," hailed as a new version of the famed "Bud" Fisher cartoon musical comedy, will hold forth at the Academy of Music, and two performances will be given.

By this means everyone, on a busy Saturday, will have a chance to enjoy the great music show. The matinee this afternoon will especially appeal to the ladies and little folks. For their special benefit a special scale of prices will prevail for the matinee, 25 and 50 cents only being charged and to any part of the Academy. Seats for tonight are now on sale at Plummer's.

After two seasons of the most remarkable business ever done by a musical comedy in theatrical history, Gus Hill offers a second edition of that famous "Bud" Fisher cartoon comedy conceit "Mutt and Jeff," entitled, "Mutt and Jeff in Panama." The new book, by Owen Davis and "Bud" Fisher, gives still greater scope for good comedy and keen satire than the original production. An entirely new musical score is furnished by Leo Edwards, with lyrics by D. B. Cobb. Men of this calibre, coupled with the producing experience of the dean of cartoon comedy productions, Gus Hill, should be able to turn out a masterpiece of hilarious fun, and they undoubtedly have done so. Having already cleaned up a snug fortune on this play in the past two seasons, Mr. Hill has gone the limit in making this the most stupendous offering of the current year. A scenic and electrical production with massive and intricate mechanical effects is something unknown in musical comedies in the past but "Mutt and Jeff in Panama" combines the sensation of a melo-drama with the "whirlie-girlie" of extravaganza and the music of a light opera, into one more than pleasing enetertainment.

Week-end at Bijou

In honor of the week-end and for the big pleasure of its hundreds of devotees the popular Bijou—the theatre that is electrically cooled and electrically ventilated—will today present a giant-sized and wonderful bill. It will certainly immensely delight the tremendous audiences that jam the Bijou every Saturday afternoon and night, and who, besides witnessing a great show, never fail to find solid comfort. And the Bijou never raises its tiny price of admission which is 5 cents, any and all the time.

Besides presenting a wealth of fine films today the Bijou will offer several noted photoplay stars, in the lead being the popular romantic actor, Mr. G. M. Anderson, who will appear in "The Tenderfoot Sheriff," a new kind of Western story, with a thrill.

Essanay's "The Stronger Link," is a story of society and the underworld, with an adventuress in the principal role, though there is a big moral taught in vivid manner by the tale.

Another star film on today is Pathe's "The Happy Home." It is a story of love and adventure: of daring deeds on land and a thrilling ship wreck. It is a strange, exciting story, one of the best in the film world.

The Grand's Week-end

The Grand will today set before the amusement-lovers of Wilmington a great bill, besides new and merriest of music, that make every heart glad. Lubin's "The Apache Kind" is a thrilling dramatic that will set every heart a-going. It is the tale of a bandit bold and of his chase. There is yet another great dramatic in the Vitagraph's "When Society Calls" which is a modern-day drama, telling of how two society people, man and wife, drift apart and the happy reconciliation that comes at the bedside of their very ill child. It possesses a wholesome lesson. Kalem's "Entertaining Uncle" is a rich society comedy, that will tickle every rib and brighten every heart. Uncle is a hummer with the girls. There is a great educational film also on today in "Cosmopolitan New York," depicting the various nationalities and the sections where they dwell in Little Old New York.

Says Father Lives Here.

A letter was received yesterday by Chief of Police Williams from the Chief of Police, of Lorain, Ohio, stating that a negro, named James White had been given a preliminary hearing, and held for the next term of Common Pleas 'court' on a charge of murder in the first degree, and that the negro said his father, Boyd White, lived in Wilmington. The chief wrote to inquire if there was such a person in Wilmington by that name. Chief Williams knows of no such person in this city, and if there is anyone who does he would be glad if they would let him know.

Stamps Taken From Sub-Station.

It developed yesterday that several weeks ago in connection with several other robberies that occurred at Delgado the post office sub-station at that point was also robbed of a quantity of stamps. United States Commissioner Harriss said last night that it was known who had the stamps in his possession later, and that it was likely that a warrant would be issued today.

WORK ON TARIFF BILL

Senator Newlands Declares His Intention of Standying by Measure

Washington, Sept. 5.—Senator Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, whose stand on the tariff bill had caused his Democratic colleagues some concern, brought relief to the minds of administration leaders upon his return from the West today. The Nevada Senator, though determined to make a fight within the party lines, assured his colleagues that he would stand by the bill as it reached the Senate.

"I never have contemplated at any time making any fight on the tariff outside the party caucus," was Senator Newlands' statement tonight just before entering the Democratic caucus. Having made progress in settling the income tax and cotton futures issues, Senator leaders predicted that all amendments would be disposed of by tomorrow, and that he bill would go to a vote Saturday night.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the Finance committee said tonight that he would not seek to limit Senator LaFollette in his discussion of the textile schedules, and for that reason might not get a vote before Monday. Progressive Republicans, it was said, were attemptpipnpg to pshape their final discussion so that a vote might be reached late Saturday night.

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, failed in the Democratic caucus today to modify the proposed tax on cotton futures, the caucus refusing to reconsider its action approving the amendment proposed by Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, designed to surb gambling in cotton. The amendment as it stands places a tax of one-tneth of one cent a pound on all cotton sold for future delivery, the tax to be refunded when deliveries actually are made.

Income tax differences within the majority were settled with an amendment compromising between the highest rates on large incomes advocated by the original Democratic "insurgents," Senators Thompson, Reed and Vardaman, and the lower rates of the original bill.

In the Senate Senator Brady, of Idaho, opposed free raw wool as disastrous to the wool industry. He also criticised the proposed tariff rates on lead and zinc.

Senator Penrose discussed the provision which would admit cigars free of duty from the Philippines, contending it would let in the product of cheap labor to compete with that of American workingmen. He submitted protests against the provision from labor organizations.

Work was resumed on re-committed portions of the bill and Senator Williams submitted a substitute for the meat inspection provision. The amendment approved by the Senate provides that no meat shall be imported unless certified to have been derived from animals free from disease, to be wholesome and fit for human food and to contain no poisonous or deleterious dyes, preservatives, or other ingredients. It also provides that if the President should find that the system of meat inspection maintained by any foreign country is not as efficient as the system in the United States or that reliance may not be placed on foreign certificates of inspection he may proclaim that no meat shall be imported from such country.

BELIEVE MYSTERY SOLVED.

Police Think They Have Two Men Who Robbed Express Car Last Month

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 5.—With the arrest here today of William B. Street and Bruce Coleman, the police believe they have solved the mystery of the express robbery on a Southern Railway train on August 28th. Street is said to have confessed. Coleman, who was the express messenger in charge of the car which was robbed, was found fastened in a chest, into which he said the robbers had forced him.

Street tonight stated that Coleman was implicated in the robbery, and that the reason he and Coleman did not blow open the express safe was because they feared to risk an explosion. The safe contained $34,000., while the robbers secured only $460.

Coleman tonight stated that Street's story was a fabrication.

Held to Their Carriage.

A man seated in his own private carriage placed upon a track at the end of a railway train would probably be considered a bit of a crank nowadays. Yet it was quite a common occurrence within the memory of many people still living. The late duke of Portland always traveled in that way between Welbeck and London. And in Notes and Queries the Rev. Sir David Hunter-Blair tells a story of a gentleman he knew in his youth who was wont to go from London to Brighton in the same fashion. Once the truck at the end of the train got disconnected in a tunnel, leaving the exclusive passenger seated stationary in his carriage—also in darkness and peril.

Chinese Matches.

We learn from a Japanese contemporary that the market for matches in Hong Kong and the surrounding districts had until recently been controlled by the Japanese products. Chinese manufactures have, however, now made considerable progress, as the result of which the Japanese product has been totally driven out of the markets of Canton and the neighborhood.—China Republican.

The taking of the first step was left to the Chicago Woman's club at the suggestion of Mrs. Pennybacker.

COTTON HAS HAD ACTIVE WEEK

Staple Has Experienced the Most Exciting Week Since the Short Crop of 1909—Big Advances Are Shown

New York, Sept. 5.—The cotton market has had one of the most active and exciting weeks since the short crop of 1909. Private crop reports had partially prepared the trade for a bullish condition figure and before the September bureau was published last Tuesday, the market had advanced $7 per bale or more from the low level of August owing to a reduction in popular views of the yield.

The official condition of 68.2, however, was even more bullish than had been expected and caused one of the most sensational advances that has ever been recorded on a government report day. Heavy realizing was naturally encountered, but the revision of crop views was so radical and general, than large amounts of cotton were absorbed at steadily advancing prices until on Wednesday, December contracts sold at 13.35, or $12.60 per bale above the recent low record. The market then developed a somewhat reactionary tendency and late today became almost demoralized by reports from Washington causing renewed apprehension that the cotton futures tax bill might possibly be passed in its original form.

Prices crumbled away almost as rapidly as they had advanced under the threat of such action, losing $3.75 of the advance, most of the reaction occurring in the last half hour of today's session. As the action of the market would suggest, sentiment has become unusually nervous and unsettled. Mathematically speaking the condition of the figures were regarded by local statisticians as indicating a possible crop of less than 13,500,000 bales, while annual trade staticties, indicating that last year's actual consumption of American cotton had been 14,900,000 bales furnished a basis of very bullish comparisons of probable supply and requirements. On the other hand, it was realized that the short interest had been much reduced on the big advance of the last two weeks, and reports of a continued slack demand from spinners, caused some doubt as to the market's ability to absorb the early new crop movement.

Futures closed feverish.

NEAR PANIC IN COTTON MARKET

Disturbance Due to Report From Washington That Proposed Tax on Trading in Cotton Futures Has Been Approved.

New York, Sept. 5.—The cotton market was thrown into a state bordering on a panic in the late session, owning to reports from Washington that the Democratic caucus of the Senate had approved the proposed tax of 1-10 of one cent a pound on trading in cotton futures.

The market had been more or less nervous and unsettled before the Washington news was received, but early losses had been recovered and the market was fair steady with prices a shade above last night's closing prices in the early afternoon. This was soon changed however, by the renewed fear of adverse legislation and in the last half hour cotton came on the market from all directions. Prices broke fully $2 per bale from the best point of the day, and the close was feverish at a net loss of 30 to 42 points.

Later advices from Washington were rather more favorable indicating that the proposed tax had only been approved after a sharp debate in caucus and predicting that the bill meet would strong opposition in conference, and after the New York close there was a sharp rally in New Orleans where prices had also suffered a sensational break. The opening here was at a decline of 9 to 12 points under realizing and in sympathy with relatively easy cables.

Liverpool reported that the market there had been influenced by hedge selling as contrasted with a moderate trade demand, and local offerings were probably promated by reports that the south was selling freely yesterday on an easier basis. There was a good demand on the decline however, and after selling about 14 to 19 points net lower during the morning the market rallied on the detailed weather report showing continued dry hot weather in Oklahoma, renewed bull support, trade buying and covering shorts.

Prices not only recovered their early loss but sold 3 to 4 points net higher and the demoralization of the last hour was attributed directly to the unsetling influence of the pending tax bill.

MANY FRESHMEN ENTER.

Wake Forest Opens With 400 Enrolled—Address by Dr. Sikes.

(Sepcial Star Correspondence.)

Wake Forest, N. C., Sept. 5.—The Fall term of Wake Forest College opened on September 2nd, with an enrollment of about 400. Many of the students have not yet arrived, but are expected to soon come in. The freshman class is a remarkably large one, in fact about one-fourth of the present student body are freshmen.

Dr. E. W. Sikes delivered the opening address in Wingate Memorial hall. In his lecture he reviewed the struggle the college had in obtaining its charter in 1834, and mentioned several incidents in connection with its history which are of interest to those who are in sympathy with the institution. In his closing remarks he empasized the importance of consistent reading of good boods.

Dr. John E. White, of Atlanta, Ga., delivered an interesting lecture last night; his subject being the life and works of Sydney Lanier, poet and soldier.

Coach Frank Thompson, who has been coaching the football and baseball teams for the past two years, is here and has already begun activities on the athletic field. Just what the prospects for football are, as yet, is hard to say, but it seems that the college will be represented with a stronger team this season than last.

HESTER'S STATEMENT

Shows World's Total Visible Supply of Cotton to be 2,053,270

New Orleans Sept. 5.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 2,053,270 against 2,055,183 last week and 2,159,222 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,078,270, against 1,000,183 last week, and 1,361,222 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 975,000, against 1,075,000 last week and 798,000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,140,000, against $1,247,000; in Egypt 67,000, against 47,000 last year; in India 538,000 against 453,000 last year, and in the United States 308,000, against 412,000 last year.

TIDE TURNS IN STOCK MARKET

Prices Show Material Gain—The Rise Regarded as a Natural Rebound From The Previous Low Figurers.

New York, Sept. 5.—The tide turned in the stock market today, and prices gained generally after a steady decline in the early days of the week. It required no great amount of buying to bring about the upturn. The steadiness with which the list responded to moderate bidding indicated that the week's selling had been largely professional, and that it had expanded the short interest to a point which made it vulnerable.

The rise was regarded merely as a natural rebound from the provious decline, and there was no evidence of awakening on the long side of the market. The uncertain outlook for the money market, and unfavorable crop outlook, were sufficient to restrain bullish enthusiasm, Aside from the strong technical position of the market, the most potent factor in bringing about the rise was the announcement that more than 90 per cent. of Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific had been subscribed for, instead of about 80 per cent., as was at first estimated by the underwriters.

The Harriman shares advanced sharply on the announcement. Gains of many important stockse ran from one to two points, though they were scaled down fractionally by profit taking during the afternoon. Movements of currency in the last day or two were less against the banks than earlier in the week and forecasts of the bank statement indicated a smaller cash loss than expected.

Bonds were firm with a marked variety in the demand. Total sales par value $1,260,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales were 282,400 including American Tobacco 100; C. & O. ex-dividend 1100; Lehigh 26,00; L. & N. 100; N. & W. 500; Reading 28,600 sai preferred 200; Southern Pacific 33,600; Southern railway 800; Tennessee Copper 1800; United States Steel 49,100; do preferred 100; V. DUN'S REVIEW

Crop Prospect Not Encouraging, but Farm Products High

New York, Sept. 5.—Dun's Review tomorrw will say:

Early promise of another year of remarkable crops will not be fully realized, yet the purchasing power of the agricultural community is sustained by high prices for the leading farm products. Official confirmation of considerable deterioration in cotton caused a sharp rise in that staple, and corn advanced on a continuance of hot, dry weather.

The reduced harvests are calculated to ultimately have some effect upon railway freight traffic, but it is gratifying that sentiment remains cheerful in spite of the less favorable outlook in certain directions.

While the delay in the adoption of the tariff bill acts as a check business nevertheless has emerged from its customary Summer legathy, and with the approach of the Fall season the revival of activity is becoming more pronounced.

property at Ocracoke and Portsmouth are greatly exaggerated.

According to the story told by the boatman, the storm and flood did much damage at Ocracoke and also at Portsmouth, both places being submerged, and much property was destroyed, but it is almost certain that no lives have been lost at either place.

Mail Boat Reaches Portsmouth.

This morning the mail boat which operates between Beaufort and Ocracoke started out on its regular trip, and succeeded in reaching Portsmouth. This was the boat's first visit to that place since Tuesday morning, and the inhabitants told a story of the worst storm in the history of the town. All over the place the water surged and many houses were swept from their underpinnings. Boats located there were either sunk or torn from their anchorage and have not since been seen. Cattle and fowls were killed by the score, and the damage to personal property will amount to several thousand dollars. The mail boat did not make the trip to Ocracoke on account of threatening weather, but at Portsmouth it was learned that there had been no fatalities.

Storm Swept Alongside.

Ocracoke is a very much exposed point, and grave fears were felt for the safety of its inhabitants, but the storm seems to have swept alongside the place instead of across, and this probably accounts for the fact that it was not destroyed. The boatman who reached Morehead City said that horses and cows were killed in large numbers, and that many buildings were washed down, and also that nearly every boat anchored at that harbor was sunk or washed away. Efforts were made here to get in communication with the life-saving station at Hatteras, and get more complete particulars, but these proved of no avail.

Yesterday afternoon the Newbern division of the North Carolina Naval Militia, on board of their training ship, the Elfrida, crossed within a few miles of Ocracoke. The crew encountered much wreckage, several capsized boats and drowned animals. Owing to a heavy mist, which overhung the water, they were unable to pick up the town with the heavy glasses. The vessel's wireless outfit is not in commission, and they were also unable to get in communication with any nearby wireless station.

Shackleford Banks Hard Hit.

Shackleford Banks, about five miles from Beaufort, was hard hit by the storm. Camping parties frequent these banks, and it so happened that a party from Newbern was at William Haar's cottage during the storm.

This party was composed of Mrs. William Haar, Miss Irene Peck, Miss May Hendren, W. A. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hendren, of Newbern; Mr. and Mrs. Nightford, of Georgia, and Dr. Stephens, of Athens, Ga.

The worst part of the storm struck the banks early Wednesday morning, and the roof of the cottage was torn away. Fearing that they would be killed if they remained long enough to don their clothing, the occupants quickly secured a few wraps and ran out into the storm. They succeeded in finding the home of a fisherman, and spent the remainder of the night there. Water was several feet deep all over the palce, and much damage was done, but as far as is known, not a one of the persons on the banks was injured.

Storm at Atlantic.

Atlantic, also, came in for its share of the storm, and damage to the extent of several thousand dollars was done there. When the water began to rise, the citizens moved everything possible to a place of safety and in this manner much personal property was saved. Live stock suffered greatly, and many animals were drowned. With the water, was the high wind, and this blew down many trees and caused many boats to break loose and be blown away.

Optimism at Wilson Spite the Loss

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 5.—With the clearing sunshine the feeling is that of optimism in this county—the crop loss is heavy, but there is hope that it will not be as heavy as first reported. Wilson county had the brightest prospect in many years before the breaking of the storm Wednesday morning. It is true that the season is late but even with that condition farmers were expecting a bumper crop of both corn and cotton.

With the exception of the instances where tobacco barns were unroofed, the tobacco is not injured. In some cases the barns and packhouses leaked but the tobacco can be dried and placed on the market. Several farmers lost heavily because of barns being blown down and roofs being blown off but these instances were scattered. On the Woodward farm, near town, a silo was demolished and a tobacco barn destroyed. The loss is heavy.

The larger part of the fodder has already been pulled, but where it was still on the stalk it is a total loss, having been whipped into shreds by the wind. Much of the corn is down badly but well-informed farmers say that the loss will be slight unless the wet weather continues. Many farmers are in town today attending the Superior Court and they are all talking "crops and storm." The almost universal opinion is that the cotton crop is the more heavily damaged and that the loss here is largely problematical. The future season will determine the damage. Most of the farmers place the damage to cotton in this county at 20 per cent. The weed is very heavy and full of blooms, squares and small bolls and it is hard to estimate conditions.

It seems that the most serious results of the storm were to the eastward. It is impossible to reach any of the surrounding points by either telephone or telegraph. Several people have come in from Washington, Goldsboro and Newbern and they tell of the destruction of property. From Tarboro comes the news of the loss of two lives and much property. It is rumored that two negro men were killed, over the line in Edgecombe county, when a tobacco barn collapsed but it is impossible to get the facts.

The result of the storm at Farmville, 12 miles from here caused much sadness in Wilson. Two young men, both connected with Wilson families, were killed when the Monk tobacco warehouse collapsed. Seven others were injured. Those killed were S. G. Lamm and Walter Bynum. This was a new warehouse, built this season and was of brick. It is presumed that the brick work being green could not stand the force of the wind.

Losss at Sea

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 5.—With the telegraph wires still down it was impossible today to get detailed information on the havoc wrought by Wednesday's storm on the North Carolina coast between Cape Hatteras and Ocracoke on the lower coast. The six-masted schooner George W. Wells which went ashore south of Hatters, has gone to pieces. The 20 men, two women and two infants rescued from the schooner Wells after great difficulty by the lifesavers, are being temporarily cared for in the vicinity of the Ocracoke inlet and Durant lifesaving stations.

The three-masted schooner reported ashore three miles north of Ocracoke turns ou to have been a four-masted schooner sighted in distress 12 miles off shore with her main topmast and bowsprit gone. It is believed to have been the schooner Annie R. Heidritter, heretofore reported drifting helplessly eight miles southwest of Diamond Shoals with her rudder broken and otherwise disabled. The revenue cutter Seminole is proceeding to the disabled schooner's assistance.

An unknown oil ship reported ashore below Ocracoke was today still unidentified. The United States seacoast telegraphic lines from Cape Henry are working only as far south as Hatteras and no information had been heard.

Reports coming up the coast bearing on the loss of the big Boston schooner, George W. Wells, are very meagre. The United States seacoast telegraph service over which the first news was flashed sought today for detailed information on the loss of the Wells, but little was available. It was in a gale blowing 70 miles an hour, much like a storm of 15 years ago when several coasting schooners were lost on Hatteras, the graveyard of ships, that the schooner Wells, bound from New York to Fernandina, Fla., light, was driven ashore after having been practically stripped of masts and sails in the hurricane. The Wells one of the largest vessels of her type afloat, was 319 feet long and her loss is a heavy one.

The rescue of the 20 men, two women and their babies, was a thrilling one. The lifesavers fought against great odds but won and all the souls that were aboard of the Wells are now safe on land. They will be sent up the coast when traffic is opened, but it is probable all will have to remain in the vicinity of the Ocracoke and Durant lifesaving stations for several days to come.

Steamer Blown From Course.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 5.—More than 60 hours overdue from Savannah, Ga., the German steamer Hahenfeldt, Captain Hulst, reached this port today. The steamer ran into a severe storm last Tuesday off Frying Pan Shoals, and was driven 158 miles north of Cape Henry. When the steamer recovered herself, she was nearly 200 miles north of her course, with her nose pointing south.

The steamer's forecastle, cabin and superstructure was under water for 40 hours. It was only slightly damaged when it reached this port.

Grave fears are felt in shipping circles for the safety of Captain Sawyer and four men composing the crews of the barges Ash and Sampson, swamped in Pamlico Bay during Tuesday's storm. The Ash was blown ashore, but the Sampson has disappeared.

The Britiss steamer Dipton, which arrived today, reported sighting the four-masted schooner R. Rheidetter in distress off Hatteras.

AMERICAN REVOLVER ARTISTS

United States Team Won First at Camp Perry International Shoot

Camp Perry Ohio, Sept. 5.—In the international target matches today the United States revolver team took first place, with a score of 2,310. The Argentine Republic team was second, with 2,006, and Peru third, with 1,607. This is a Pan-American Union match with the three teams entered. In the revolver match of the 25-yard target, France leads, J. Girardot having the highest score, 178; Routerskilod, Sweden, second, with 173 ,and Carero France, third with 171. There are ten competitors.

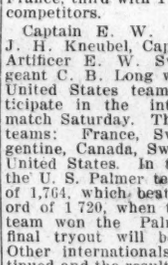
Captain E. W. Eddy, Lieutenant J. H. Kneubel, Captain Heidenreich, Artificer E. W. Sweeting and Sergeant C. B. Long will constitute the United States team which will participate in the international team match Saturday. There will be seven teams: France, Sweden, Peru, Argentine, Canada, Switzerland and the United States. In the try out today the U. S. Palmer team made a score of 1,764, which beats last year's record of 1 720, when the United States team won the Palma match. The final tryout will be held Saturday. Other internationals are being continued and the results of today's shooting will be bulletined Saturday.

Horse-stealing has developed about Philadelphia, and is so frequent the owners of fine animals are greatly concerned. The West learned many years ago how to put all the concern on the man who steals the horse.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bellevue, Ohio.—"I was in a terrible state before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached until I thought it would break, I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Bellevue, Ohio.



Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

at the discretion of the court, from a fine, amount unspecified, to a prison sentence, the maximum of which is one year.

In finding Thaw subject to deportation—a decision which was rendered after 4 o'clock this afternoon—the board of inquiry announced that Thaw "entered Canada by stealth, contrary to the provisions of the immigration act; that Thaw has been insane within five years previous to the present date."

He was ordered to be deported to tse State of Vermont, whence he came to Canada.

The board later supplemented its final announcement with this comment: "Immediately on the decision being rendered, the board was served with notice of appeal in due form, which will act as a stay of procedure until such time as the evidence has been perused by the acting Minister of the Interior, and the decision of the board either confirmed or reversed."

Vermont Village Disappointed.

Norton Mills, Vt., Sept. 5.—This little border hamlet waited in vain today to welcome Harry Thaw back to the States. Many residents forsook their work-a-day pursuits in the hope of seeing the fugitive. Captain John Lanyon, special deputized representative of the Matteawan Asylum for the Insane, from which Thaw fled, was ready with armed assistants to take him into custody immediately he was put over the Canadian line, and several deputy sheriffs were here also.

Late in the day William Travers Jerome, anticipating the deportation of Thaw by way of this place, arrived in his automobile, after giving bond on the charge of gambling made against him in Coaticook. Until word came that Thaw's lawyers had secured a writ of habeas corpus ordering his appearance at Montreal, Mr. Jerome was visibly disappointed. Prior to that time that this word was received, Jerome was in a joking mood. "It was enogh to lose a dollar and a half in the game, without being arrested for it," he said.

Word came to him later that a second warrant had been sworn out against him in Coaticook, charging him with fleeing from justice.

This evening he heard that the Provincial authorities in Quebec were sorry for his arrest, and that a formal apology from the government might be made.

Mr. Jerome expressed the intention early in the evening of starting for Montreal, but afterward decided to remain here until morning.

OLD SIGNALS CAUSED WRECK.

Sworn Testimony Fixes Blame for New Haven Wreck.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5.—The so-called Banjo signal system, installed on the New Haven railroad nearly 25 years ago, was charged in sworn testimony today with resposibility of the death of 21 persons in the wreck on that road last Tuesday. The testimony was given at the Inter-State Commerce Commission's inquiry to determine the case of the disaster.

The Banjo System was admitted by officers of the road to be inferior to up-to-date system in use on other roads. Lacking a cantion signal as protection against a danger signal, as in modern systems, the "Banjo" type, according to half a dozen trainmen, caused engineers to "drift by" their signals in foggy weather before they could stop their trains.

Such was the reason for the North Haven wreck according to Engineer August B. Miller, was was at the throttle of the locomotive of the White Mountain express when it plunged into the road of the Bar Harbor express on the fatal Tuesday morning. Train sheets introduced in evidence today, however, showed that Miller's train was speeding over 51 miles an hour.

That an order to stop the White Mountain Express at Wallingford, three miles north of the wreck was sent from New Haven, and then rescinded was one feature of the testimony. This was told by John C. Kelly, the New Haven train dispatcher, who produced train sheets, showing that the White Mountain brought up the rear of a precession of six trains which passed Wallingord within 32 minutes. The first five of them Kelly testified, were on the ten mile stretch between Wallingford and Air Line Junction, just north of here all at the same time.

Kelly said he originally had given theorder to stop because of the long time the first of the five trains took to reach Air Line junction, and had rescinded it on receiving word from the junction that the train had arrived there.

Flagman Murray, who with Engineer Miller, was arrested last night by Coroner Miz and accused of "criminal" responsibility for the wreck, was released today on bond furnished by order of President Elliott of the New Haven. Miller also is in bonded liberty.

New York, Sept. 5.—J. P. Morgan and Company served notice today upon the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company of their intention to end their connection as fiscal agents of the road. This notice was made public today by the New Haven's executive committee. The commitee authorized the President to install without stint safety applicances, and signals to insure safety of passengers.

The letter notifiying the committee on the intention of the firm financial to sever conections with the New Haven, was presented by J. P. Morgan personally and was addresed to President Elliott.

Mr. Morgan told the committee that similar letters had been sent to the board of directors of the Boston and Maine, and the Maine Central railroads, New Haven subsidiaries.

For many years the Morgan firm has acted as the financial agent of the New Haven road, and recently it has been undertaken to underwrite $67,000,000, six per cent., debenture bonds to be used principally for refunding purposes, and for betterments and improvement work. Much of the committee's times today was taken up with a discussion of the Wallingford wreck. President Elliott told the committee that already he had ordered the prosecution of the work of installing signals between New Haven and Springfield pushed as rapidly as possible.

Tonight President Elliott said the company was expediting with all possible haste the construction of steel cars.

Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 5.—After a week of interesting play in the annual National Amateur Championship Tournament at the Garden City Golf Club, the issue now lies between the present holder of the title, Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., and John G. Anderson, of the Braeburn Club, of Massachusetts, former amateur champion of the Bay State.

KILLS FIFTEEN.

Teacher Runs Amuck, Killing and Injuring Many Victims.

Muehlhausen, Germany, Sept. 5.—Fifteen persons are dead here as the result of a school teacher named Wagner running amuck last night with several revolvers and a plentiful supply of ammunition. Eight persons died shortly after Wagner opened up his murderous fusillade, and seven others of twenty wounded succumbed today. Four more persons are in a precarious condition.

Wagner previously had killed his wife and four children in the nearby town of De Gerloch, and then came to Muehlhausen to continue his deadly work.

When Wagner finally was overpowered by infuriated towns people, badly injured by blows from clubs and by wounds from pitchforks, it was believed that he was insane.

A commission of examining judges, however, after a lengthy hearing, in which Wagner rationally answered all their questions, declared the murderer to be normal mentally.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC—We have been receiving requests for some time that we handle "Rough Dry," the same as the laundries in the larger cities; that is, wash, starch and dry the clothes, returning them ready to be ironed. Desiring to meet the demands of our customers, we some time ago agreed to handle a few bundles. We found that we could not handle same successfully, unless we were equipped with special machinery for that purpose. We decided, therefore, to install the special machinery. We now have same ready for use, and beg that you come and inspect the same. We will be ready for your bundle early Monday morning. Do not forget that we make a specialty of washing blankets. BITS OF HISTORY

NEW STYLE TIME

The New Style Calendar was adopted by England and her Colonies in 1752. The change made September 3rd become September 14th, and the eleven days intervening remain lost for all time. The loss of those days injured no one as each person lost the same eleven days and no business was recorded between the dates mentioned.

But about the days that are lost from time to time by each of us. Those persons who have never had a Bank Account have lost a great many days, during which a little surplus might have been growing. Lose no more days, but start now.

On what you save this Bank allows 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly.
